

Off to Upstate Climes: ...

Halloran Stay Ended

A litter patient—one of 75 tuberculosis patients being transferred from Halloran VA Hospital to Batavia, N. Y.—is lifted gently aboard a Pullman train in the Arlington yards.

Advance
February 5, 1951

As this patient from Halloran VA Hospital dismounts from a government vehicle, J. F. Riley, conductor, prepares to see him safely aboard a train in transfer from the Island to Batavia, N. Y.