Willowbrook Classes

Put Work on Display

Work done by youngsters in the occupational therapy classes at Willowbrook State School is being displayed this week in the window of the Wright Furniture Company, 661 Bay street, Stapleton.

The display, which also includes a picture story of the school, is the second arranged to acquaint the public with the progressive rehabilitation program being conducted at the school.

A member of the hospital staff, Mrs. Catherine Webb, will be at the store to answer questions about the school and to arrange tours for interested groups. Mrs. Webb also will try to interest persons in volunteering for work in the hospital.

Cancer Films Featured At Willowbrook Session

Two films, on professional phases of cancer, were shown yesterday to a group of nurses and social workers at Willowbrook State School. One was called "What Is Cancer?" and the other "Cancer—Problem of Early Diagnosis."

Dr. Antico Baron, resident psychiatrist at the school, discussed the important role nurses play in care of the cancer patients. Mrs. Ethel Stevens, instructor of nurses, presided at the meeting. Mrs. S. Griffith McConaughy, executive director of the Staten Island Cancer Committee, distributed literature.

STATEN ISLAND ADVANCE

Willowbrook State School today was preparing for a three-day demonstration and sale of articles made by children at the school under the occupational therapy program.

The event will open Sunday in the school auditorium from 1 to 5 P.M., and will be highlighted by a concert by the school's 34-piece band under the direction of Vincent Lombardi, music director.

The demonstration and sale of articles will continue Monday and Tuesday, from 7 P.M. to 9 P.M., in the auditorium in Building 3.

The public is invited to attend the program to become acquainted with the school and its occupational therapy program.
