

Just Add a Pinch of...

WHAT Did You Say?

"Soup's on"—that's no idle phrase for workers in the five kitchens at Willowbrook State School which feed 5,600 patients and staff members. Manning the huge steam ketties for soup and vegetables above are, left to right, Stanley Jakubowski of Port Richmond, Charles Sepulveda of Midland Beach and Israel Montalvo of Stapleton.

Photofeature by Barry G. Schwartz

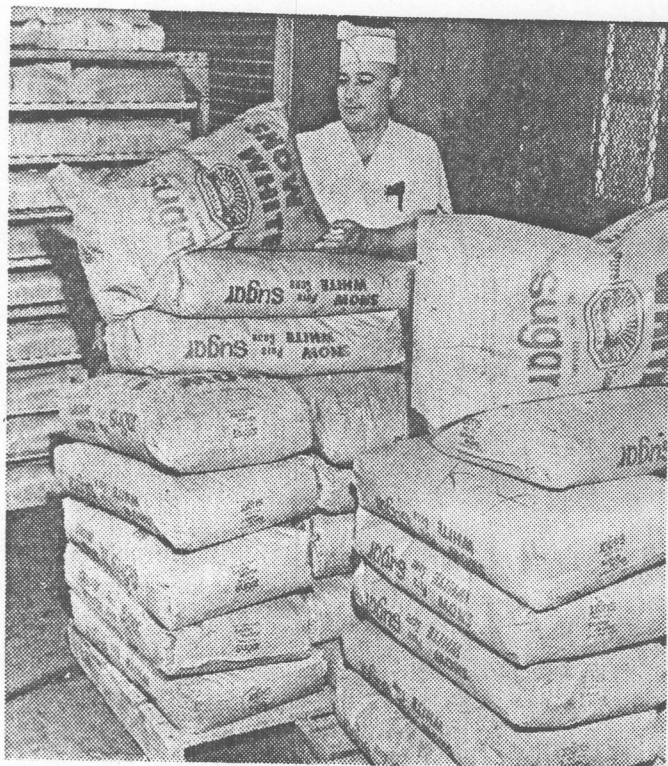

A few thousand carrots are placed in one of the vegetable refrigerators at the school by Jose Torres of Willowbrook. They are supplies for the next week.

Would you believe—160 pounds of potatoes? Elmer Hart, rear, of Dongan Hills, head cook in the control kitchen at Willowbrook checks the scale as Jergin Michelsen of Westerleigh places huge pans of potatoes to be weighed.

Add a ton of sugar to the storage supplies at Willowbrook State School. Ben D'Aquila of Sunnyside, above, checks a sugar delivery there.

A new breed of corn-huskers is photographed in the kitchens at the huge state school. Left to right are John Ruess of St. George, John Palermo of Meiers Corners and Greville Childs of Midland Beach.

S.I. Advance

September 22, 1966