

STATEN ISLAND ADVANCE, TUESDAY, MAY 6, 1969

Dolly says 'Hello!'

A young patient at Willowbrook State School is introduced to a talking doll which is designed to act as therapy aid for youngsters who refuse to talk with adults, but who will communicate with toys. The doll was produced by Staten Island Council, Telephone Pioneers of America, and was donated to the institution. Raymond Peterson of Tottenville, president of the council, and Miss Sandra Rubin, a speech therapist, handle the introductions.
