

Community activities fill medical auxiliary calendar

A busy fall calendar of community activities was launched yesterday by the Woman's Auxiliary to the Richmond County Medical Society at a luncheon-meeting in Willowbrook State School.

Several new members were welcomed and a special program was given by Anthony Bodolato, music director at Willowbrook.

He described methods used to teach music to the children there and then sang several selections. The director had appeared with the San Francisco State Opera Company and on Broadway in "Little Abner," as well as in several night clubs.

The auxiliary made a donation to help with the music program at Willowbrook.

The program, originally planned for yesterday, was an art show and lecture by Mrs. Margaret Rue of New Dorp on the importance of painting in preserving historical records.

Because of the speaker's illness, the program will be rescheduled later in the season.

Plans were discussed for the GEMS (Good Emergency Island Substitutes) lectures, Oct. 14, 21 and 28 in the Castle-fund dinner-dance, Tavern on ton Hill Moravian Church and the Green, New Dorp, held jointly with the county Medical Society; Mrs. Alfred Helgi is chairman.

This program, headed this year by Mrs. Spero Vozeolas, guides teen-aged girls in workshop, Richmond County Country Club, to be attended by the auxiliaries of District 1, taking in Bronx, Kings, Queens and Richmond. Mrs. Albert Patrick is District 1 councillor and Mrs. Joseph Shanaphy will be chairman of the day.

Nov. 4 - Annual luncheon and workshop, Richmond County Country Club, to be attended by the auxiliaries of District 1, taking in Bronx, Kings, Queens and Richmond. Mrs. Albert Patrick is District 1 councillor and Mrs. Joseph Shanaphy will be chairman of the day.

Nov. 16 - Public relations program on the topic, "Drugs," in St. Vincent's Medical Center.

Oct. 16 - Nurses' scholarship Mrs. Ludwig Gross is chairman.
