THE TAYLOR LAW

—against strikes by public servants, Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller assures one and all, will be enforced as regards its every violation in the two-day weekend strike pulled by Child Theodore Wenzl's Civil Service Employees Association.

Abuse The walkout, which the governor called "intolerable" in a powerful statement issued yesterday, was especially cruel in its effects on poor, retarded, well-nigh helpless children at Willowbrook State Hospital on Staten Island and kindred institutions.

Consequently, we believe public opinion will endorse the strictest possible enforcement of the Taylor Law against all the strikers . . . and if any children die because of this outrage, how about some murder indictments?
