

Traveling with fellow

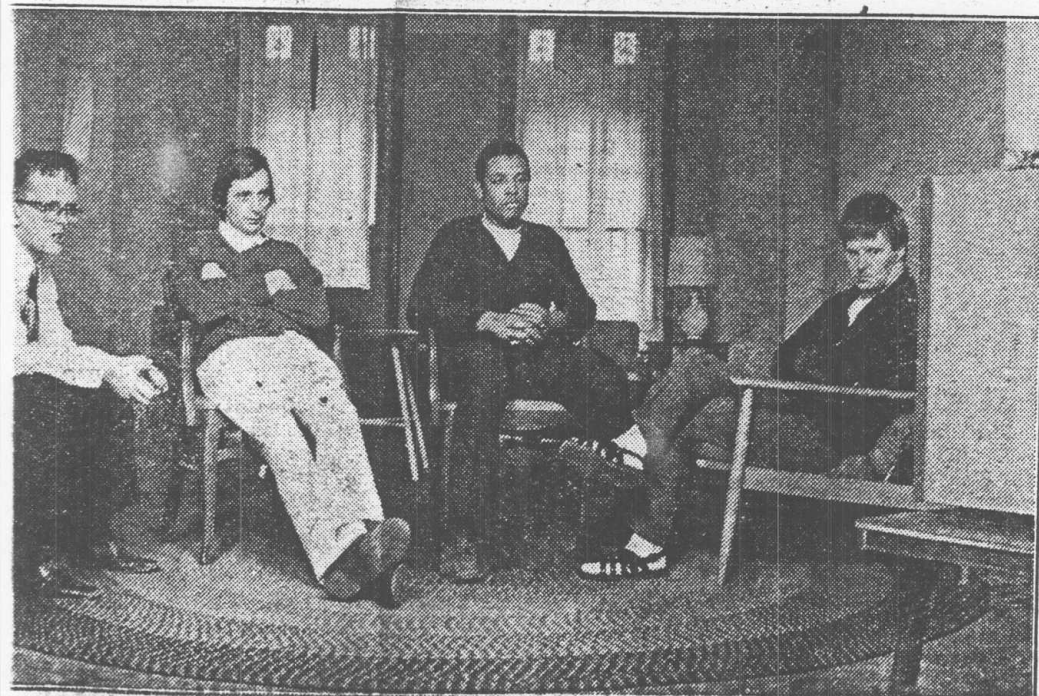

After dinner, the

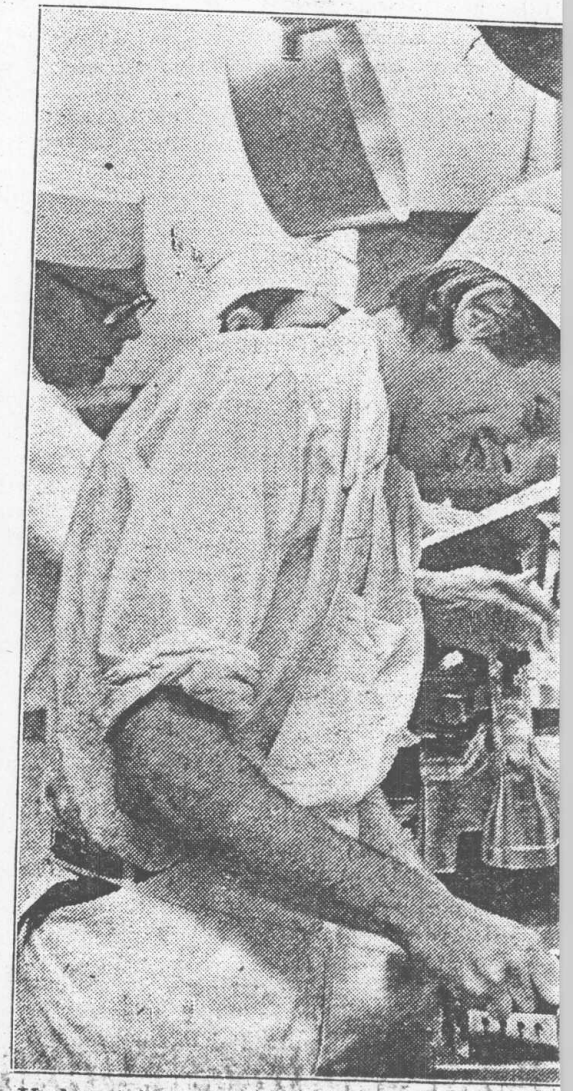

NEWS photos by Anthony Casale

Someone Cares About Fred Rossi

At the moment, Fred Rossi is alone. Time was when Fred Rossi was always alone. A resident of Willowbrook for 13 years, Rossi, 32, is a retarded adult now living at Garfield Manor, 305 Garfield Place, Brooklyn. The manor is home to seven persons who are supervised daily by "house parents" Susan and Ralph Cavolo. Residents learn to adjust to society—doing housework, participating in workshops, making beds, learning to use money. Some, like Fred, work. Rossi travels daily on subway to a vocational school where he's learning kitchen work. The manor is run by Catholic Charities with state and local funds.

After a busy day, Fred (second left) watches TV with three other residents

Today, Rossi is learning kitchen work