

STATEN ISLAND ADVANCE, Friday, January 4, 1974

Laundry normal at Willowbrook

A temporary problem of inadequate clothing for residents of Willowbrook State School was expected to be cleared up today with the arrival of additional laundry deliveries from New Jersey.

Since Monday, because of the New Year holiday, the institution had experienced a severe cutback in its laundry service.

One building supervisor said that though the children were not fully clothed, they were dressed in undershirts and pajamas, and the building was adequately heated to protect them from catching cold.