

Willowbrook kids enjoy a carnival

Two hours of free rides, free food and free gifts at a carnival? It's probably been the secret dream of many a child.

And for 40 children from the Willowbrook Developmental Center, ages 8 to 14, that dream came true yesterday.

As guests at the carnival at the K mart Shopping Plaza, New Springville, the kids from Willowbrook had the place all to themselves from 3 to 5 p.m.

To make the day even more exciting, everyone came back with a gift—win, lose, or draw. "There's none of this 'I won this, I won that,'" Arthur Clapper, one of the carnival organizers said. "Every kid walks away with the same prize."

The carnival, which started last Thursday, is sponsored by the Congregation B'nai Jeshurun. The fairground parking lot was provided by the Richmond Shopping Center Associates.

Rides and games were provided to the children by Midway Amusements. K mart Shopping Plaza and Congregation B'nai Jeshurun, under the direction of Clapper, supplied the food and prizes.
