Likes change at Willowbrook

On Monday, June 28, I visited my son at Willowbrook Development Center. When I went into the dining room I was amazed: I asked Mrs. Simmons if I was in the wrong place.

What I saw was a perfect department store. You name it, and you find it there. The attendants were checking all the items, the racks filled with robes, dresses, all size shoes. That is in building 29.

It became a reality within two years. They have four in a room with four wardrobes and drawers. The attendants are all dependable. God bless them all.

I used to bring his clothes back and forth so he could look better than with the rags they had; now I don't have to do that anymore.
