

Dr. Levester Cannon, left, new director of Willowbrook Developmental Center, congratulates Henry Hansen, a S.E.R.V.E. volunteer with 6,500 hours' service, as Polly Normann, director of S.E.R.V.E., standing, and Ernestine Barone, another volunteer, look on.

S.I. Advance Photo by Frank J. Johns

S.E.R.V.E. volunteers feted at Willowbrook

Special thanks was given to more than 100 S.E.R.V.E. volunteers during a tribute day luncheon in the Willowbrook Developmental Center yesterday.

Entering their 11th year of volunteer activity in the facility, the senior citizens were honored for the work they have performed each Thursday, from cuddling babies to repairing jewelry and furniture. (Another group of S.E.R.V.E. volunteers, which works at the facility on Mondays, was honored earlier this week.)

Meeting the S.E.R.V.E. volunteers for the first time was new Willowbrook director Dr. Levester Cannon, who also adressed the group.

After lunch, the seniors were presented with certificates of recognition for their long years of service. According to Polly Normann, director, the organization sends the largest group of volunteers into the facility and has done so for the longest tenure.

STATEN ISLAND ADVANCE, Friday, August 20, 1976

Police log

Police yesterday reported the following burglaries:

At Willowbrook Developmental Center, Herman Hines told police at 5:30 a.m. that a window was forced and 180 pounds of ground meat, 220 pounds of baloney, 180 pounds of butter and 30 pounds of bacon were taken from a kitchen in Building 4.