

A year ago, a sheltered work experience program was begun for residents of the Willowbrook Developmental Center in its Work Activity Center. In that time, the program has trained 140 residents, 30 of whom have been transferred to community living. Here, Dr. Levester Cannon, left, director of Willowbrook, and Jack Harrington, director of the program observe residents — who are paid for their work — packaging sanitary belts.

S.I. Advance Photo by Frank J. Johns