

Willowbrook plans 'Starlight concert'

Willowbrook Developmental Center is gearing up for a big event Monday night, a "Starlite Concert" that center spokesmen say will be attended by thousands.

The evening's festivities will feature classical musical entertainment by the Staten Island Music Society, rock music by Cash

Money, a 20-minute finale fireworks show, surprise gifts for Willowbrook residents and food donated by many private Island concerns.

The extravaganza begins at 6 p.m. on the Willowbrook baseball field opposite Building 5.

Tickets for the event, which is open to the public, are still available and may be purchased at the Benevolent Society offices in Building 1 on Monday.

FOSTER GRANDPARENTS

Rewarding opportunity to work with developmentally handicapped children on a "one-to-one" basis and earn Federally funded, non-taxable income at the same time. To qualify you must be: retired; over 60; a low-income Staten Island resident; and genuinely interested in child care. In addition to a stipend, you'll be entitled to free round trip transportation to W.D.C., paid vacation, sick and personal leave, worker's compensation, etc.
