

Developmental center scouts are honored

The Staten Island Developmental Center's Boy Scout Troop 223 cited 127 of the troop's 185 Scouts last night in a court of honor in the Building 3 auditorium.

Badges for swimming, hiking, camping, first aid, patriotism and citizenship were presented by Sherman Clark, scoutmaster. Guests included 40 parents of scouts, Elin Howe, director of the center; Fran Ryan, director of treatment services; Island scout executive Anthony Huie and Walter Martin, SIDC building coordinator.

The awards night was concluded with a slide presentation on the troop's two-week camping expedition upstate this past summer in Ten Mile River.
