

Community placement: Only time will tell

Residents of group homes learn their way around household chores, such as doing the dishes.

Two residents find working with their hands can be both fun and constructive.