

Article disturbing to teacher at center

This is in reference to your "Update" column in the Sunday, April 12 issue:

For years we have been reading various and sundry reports as to the status of the Staten Island Developmental Center. Your article concerning debris on the grounds finally convinced me of the Advance's compulsion to uncover at least one "major scandal" per week at the center.

What a terrible waste of time and intelligent newspaper personnel on such petty matters as construction refuse! And to think "inside info" was solicited to make the story even juicier!

Well, you can take it from this insider, S.I.D.C. has been and still is cleaning up its act. So why doesn't the Advance spend its time looking at our high quality programs instead of burying its head in the garbage?
