Developmental center aide arrested in assault

A 33-year-old aide at the Staten Island Developmental Center surrendered to detectives yesterday in connection with the alleged assault on a severely retarded patient at the Willowbrook institution, police said.

Euly Carr, of 153 Brabant St. Mariners harbor was accused of assault in the third degree by Detective Bruce Carroll of the Crimes Against Persons squad. Police said Carr kicked Wanda Cooke, 19, in the mouth as the patient crawled about the floor of Building 12 on Sat. Oct. 17 at 7:15 a.m.

The patient suffered a fractured jaw and two broken teeth in the assault which police said was unprovoked.

Detectives said because the injury was not severe the third-degree assault charge was lodged against Carr and he was issued a summons to appear in court on Nov. 18.
