Crime roundup

A 29-year-old West Brighton man, who works as a custodian in the Staten Island Developmental Center in Willowbrook, was arrested yesterday on charges that he sexually abused a client at the center, police said.

The suspect, John Tomasello of 28 Karen Ct., is accused of abusing a 32-year-old male client who lived in Building 25 at the center.

Detective Catherine Bertolino of the Staten Island Crimes Against Persons Squad made the arrest in the 122nd Precinct stationhouse in New Dorp at 8:15 a.m.
