

Advance stands up for preservation

I am constantly reading about the destruction, congestion, pollution and problems we have on Staten Island. At least the editorial page of the Advance lets us know what should be done to make Staten Island better.

Someone has to defend us against unconcerned, arrogant governmental leaders. Someone has to stand up to the land grabbers and destroyers who want to put houses all over the Greenbelt. Certainly they have full control and are destroying all of the natural land everywhere else on Staten Island. Someone has to help us stand up against the New Jersey polluters and the disgusting landfill.

If we didn't have the Advance to point out what's happening, there would be no hope for a Staten Island that will be worth living in.
