

Unexpected detour

Detour signs, like the ones above, direct drivers on the campus of the Staten Island Developmental Center, Willowbrook, where the rebuilding of underground steam tunnels is forcing buses and emergency vehicles to take other routes. Sometimes, however, there are detours on the detours. Charles Crawford of Midland Beach, below, pauses from his work on the deteriorating steam tunnels to watch fire trucks turn around at a road block on their way to a fire on the campus.

S.I. Advance Photos by Tony Dugal

