

Police officers search a room packed with unused furniture and equipment at the Staten Island Development Center.