FEATURED ARTICLE FOR THIS ISSUE:

the humor magazine by DAVE DILILLO, Illustrated by MIKE YOUNG pg. 5

Just how did Operation Three-Legged Dolphin get to where it is today? What started out as an idea for a club publication by two ambitious college students, now turned into something so controversial and complex that it was only a matter of time until someone had to ~~write a short comic~~ write a short comic about it.

SOUTHERN SQUIRREL & DANDELION STEW by ANDREW OPPENHEIMER pg. 16

STUDENT SHOVS CAMERA PHONE UP HIS ASS by MATT YOUNG pg. 17

Do you hate Biology class? So does Dick Doodles. When you find out just how far this student went to complete a class project, you may just realize how well you had it back when you cringed over dissecting a frog.

THE WORLD ACCORDING TO KATIE ANDERSON by ED PEPPE pg. 18, 26, 31, 36, 40, 42

See the world from the perspective of a tomboyish social outcast as one girl, cursed with impulse but has a pull-no-punches attitude to compensate, takes on a hectic college life, an awkward family, a creepy secret admirer and varying unpredictable circumstances in a way that only she knows how.

EVERYBODY'S FREE TO WATCH ANIME by ANTHONY "A-Log" LoGATTO pg. 19

Calling all geeks, freaks, nerds and dweebs everywhere! Want an outlet for your "nerdly" habits? Then watching anime is your solution! (Just know what you're getting into before you actually try it, though...)

CSI ADVENTURES Episode 2: TALE OF THE OVERTALLY by ZACHARY SNYDER pg. 22

Our fellow students just can't seem to catch a break! Our hero, the Average Joe ENS student needs to once again venture through this treacherous campus to register for his class, but this time, it's up to you to help him! Complete the maze, or he may never get to his class in time!

Introducing: THE STEALTH PARKING SYSTEM! by MIKE BEYER pg. 27

JERSEY SHORE: Behind the Tan by NICK GONZALEZ pg. 28

MTV's smash hit show "Jersey Shore" gave all of us Staten Islanders something else to be ashamed of. To find out what it's really all about, one O3LD reporter went into the suntanned jungle to get interviews from the "stars" themselves, with surprising results!

STUPID INVENTOR Mini-Comic by ZACHARY SNYDER pg. 32

While most scientists desperately look for the secret to time-travel, our friendly neighborhood inventor and his assistant find the secret to traveling back in "comic" time in this unique cut-and-fold fun size story, exclusive to Operation Three-Legged Dolphin! Read more comics at www.StupidInventor.com

ILLUSTRATED BY MICHAEL YOUNG

COLLEGE OF STATEN ISLAND, FALL 2008

HEY. YOU. WE HEAR YOU'RE MIKE ZUCKERYOUNG, THE FUNNY GUY WHO PRACTICALLY LIVES ON CAMPUS. DO YOU PAY RENT HERE OR SOMETHING?

GUYS, I GET PAID TO RUN THIS PLACE. AND, YES. THAT'S ME. I DO HEAR I'M SOMEWHAT INCENDIARY FROM TIME TO TIME.

SEE, THAT'S FUNNY.

WITTY.

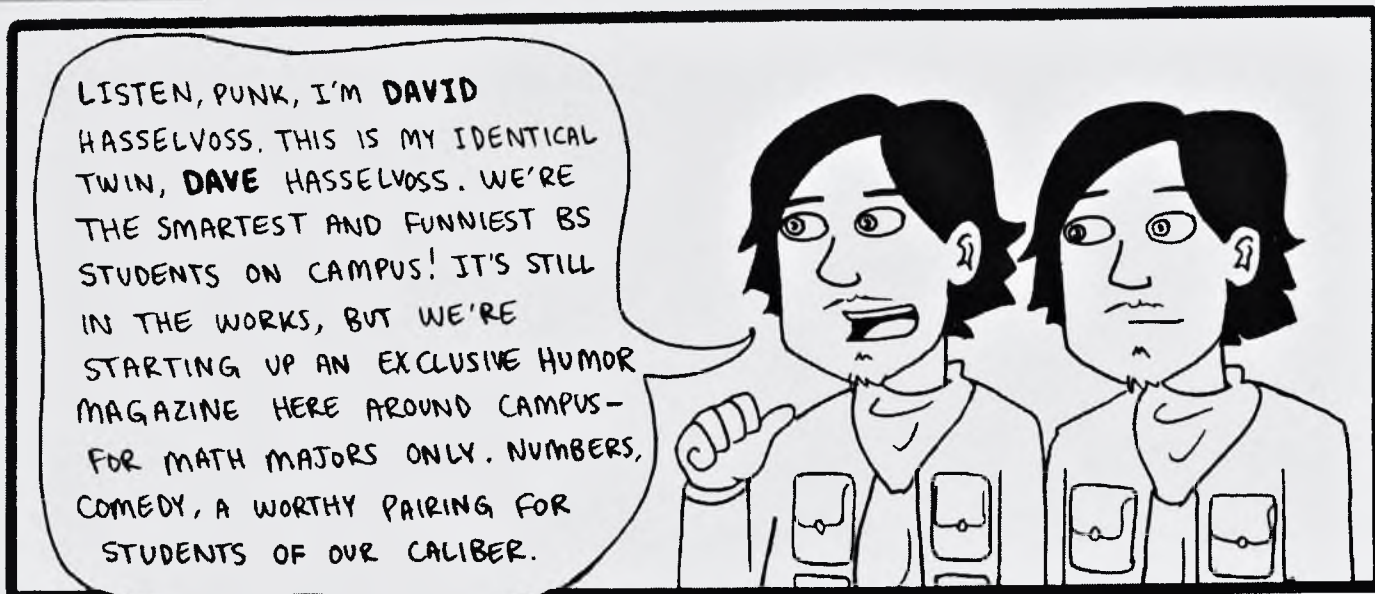

RABBLE-ROUSING, EVEN.

ANYWAY.

TO THE POINT.

I WAS HYPOTHESIZING THERE WOULD BE ONE. WHAT'S UP?

THE NEXT DAY

HEY, ESQUIRE. I NEED YOU. WANT IN ON A BRILLIANT IDEA OF MINE?

I'M NOT SURE, MAN. LAST TIME, YOU MADE ME PART OF SOME SOCIAL NETWORKING SITE FOR ONLINE BROMANCES. IT WAS SORTA EMBARRASSING, TO SAY THE LEAST. WHAT'S IT THIS TIME?

THEY NEED TO FEEL CONNECTED THROUGH HUMOR AND WE NEED TO SUPPLY THE LAUGHS. IT'LL BE HONEST, HEARTFELT, GENUINE. IT'LL BE THE TIME OF OUR LIVES. I NEED YOU ON THIS ONE, MAN.

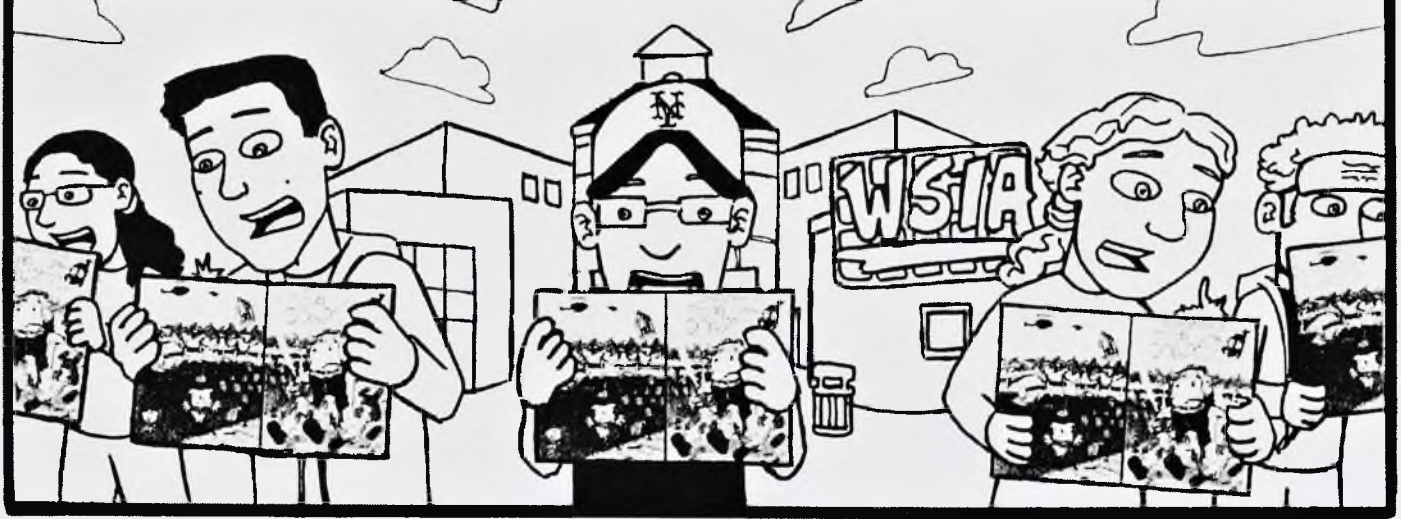

IT WAS A LITTLE OF THIS AND THAT. BUT DEFINITELY NOT YOUR LAST REMARK. THE FAIRYTALE ESQUIRE COULDN'T KEEP UP WITH WHERE WE NEEDED TO GO FROM THERE, HOW WE HAD TO ADAPT. SOME MIGHT CALL IT SURVIVAL OF THE FITTEST. OR THE FUNNIEST.

IT DIDN'T HAVE TO BE LIKE THIS! I'M NOT THE ONE WHO LOST THE WAY...

MR. ZUCKERYOUNG, I'M GLAD YOU COULD MAKE IT HERE THIS EVENING. LUCKILY, YOU'RE PART OF THE MANHATTAN 9-5 GRIND NOW, SO YOU WERE ALREADY IN THE NEIGHBORHOOD. THE JUDGE HAS REACHED A VERDICT. HE'LL BE IN SHORTLY. I JUST WANTED TO REMARK OFF THE BOOKS HOW COMPLETELY UNFUNNY I THINK YOU ARE. I MEAN, A DOLPHIN WITH THREE LEGS IS JUST PLAIN STUPID, AND...

In these hard economic times, it's become difficult to find money even for basic grocery shopping. Costly ingredients like meat, vegetables, and spices can add up quickly, and seldom taste as lovely as freshly picked ingredients. This delicious stew recipe however costs next to nothing, and only requires a little thinking outside the box. It can feed a family of five with plenty of leftovers for the week too!

Southern Squirrel & Dandelion Stew

WRITTEN BY Andrew Oppenheimer / ILLUSTRATION BY Edward Peppe

Ingredients:

- 2 Squirrels (tire markings optional)
- 20 Dandelions
- 1 Gallon of Water
- 1/4 lb. Maple Bark Scrapings
- 2 cups of Small Stones
- (1) 4 inch. Human Hair Clipping
- 6 cups of Finely Ground Acorns
- 4 eggs (10 eggs if from a small bird)

Preparation Instructions:

- Remove all hair and road debris from squirrels. Make sure to squeeze any undesirable by-products from gallbladder, colon, and bladder. Put the squeezings in a bowl.
- Blanch squirrels in a large pot with acorn powder. Submerge squirrels in water and bring to an angry simmer for 20 minutes.
- Gracelessly throw in all dandelions and bark scrapings.
- Stir every five minutes for 20 minutes, then lower the heat to next to nothing.
- Pour in remaining acorn powder as thickener.
- Crack all eggs into the stew and stir them until unrecognizable.
- Pour stones and hair clipping into the stew carefully. Stir until you think the stones are hot. Caution! Boiling liquids can lead to injury if used improperly.
- Serve and enjoy.

Hope your family likes this meal as much as the person that told me about it does. The stones aid digestion, and sometimes add additional flavors depending on the mineral deposit they were located in. Be careful when selecting stones not to take dirt-lumps, which sometimes look like stones.

STUDENT SHOVES CAMERA PHONE UP HIS ASS PHOTOS 'LIKED' ON FACEBOOK

BY Matt Young

WHAT COULD GO WRONG?

Dick Doodles researched the excretory system for his Biology 170 project. But when the CSI Library failed to provide any helpful materials, he took matters into his own hands.

“I put a camera phone up my ass to take pictures and it just got stuck up there,” said Doodles. As it passed through, the phone took camera shots that were mobile uploaded to Facebook. The photos instantly drew attention from Doodles’ peers, with about 1500 “likes” and 1400 comments saying, “I like this,” most of which were typed out as “I lik dis.” Doodles also stated that he got a strange vibrating sensation in his butt whenever he got a text message from someone.

The camera phone has since slid out in what can be described as a memorable bathroom incident and now safely resides inside Dick Doodles’ back pocket. Doodles also presented his experiment at the Undergraduate Research Conference, where it was titled, “The Time I Stuck a Cell Phone up My Ass and Called It a Project.” The poster won the Tomás D. Morales award for Academic Excellence.

Hey, doofus! Dad says to get dressed, Aunt Carol's on her way over here and he doesn't want you embarrassing him again...

Who? You mean "fashionista extraordinaire" Aunt Carol?

Katie, don't start... I'm not here to argue...

Every year, she pays us an unwarranted visit. And every year, I'm supposed to impress her by dressing up like one of those skanky bimbos from Jersey Shore, or Jerseylicious, or Jersey turnpike...

You made that last one up!

Your point?

** Sigh ** Katie, how hard would it be to simply throw on a dress and keep your mouth shut for a few hours?

VERY! Look, it's JUST Aunt Carol. If I want to walk around in an extra-large Cowboy Bebop t-shirt and baggy shorts, I feel I've got the God-given right. It is MY house, after all...

Umm...no offense, but you're wearing plaid boy-shorts! You look like a total tomboy! I wouldn't be caught dead like that IN THIS HOUSE, much less in public...

Hey, the KMART in Hylan was having a sale! If you could find me some summer shorts that don't suffocate my deadly thunder-thighs, then maybe I'll listen...

** Ugh! **, I can feel my migraine coming back...

EVERYBODY'S FREE TO WATCH ANIME

BY Anthony LoGatto / ILLUSTRATIONS BY Elizabeth Che

Ladies and Gentlemen, of the Otaku class of 2010
I have only one piece of advice for you...

Watch anime!

If I can offer you anything to watch as a geek,
Anime would be it.

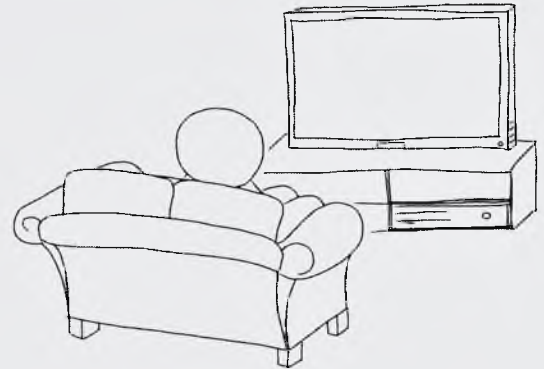

A lot of anime you watch has been seen by millions
Hence that my advice would be for the most part
For an experienced lover of the animated arts.
I will dispense this advice...for all of the newbies...

Now.

Enjoy the complexity of your dub
Oh, nevermind, you would still think that anime is better
When it's in its original subtitled format.
But trust me, in twenty years, you'll see how a dub
Can make the anime-watching experience
Easier for those who have trouble reading...
Let alone, watching both, like most normal people.
You are not racist for watching a dub.

Don't worry of what the haters say.
Or worry, but know that worrying
Is about as effective as trying to watch
Neon Genesis Evangelion in one sitting.
The real troubles of an anime fan would
Have to be which titles you can watch
And which ones you don't want to be Caught dead with the next day.
The kind that you think has some hot girls
But turns out to be loli.

Always be careful of chibis that are short.
Sometimes they are cute; sometimes they are annoying.
They are short, but they're on the hunt for smoked cheese.

Remember praise for your favorite anime
 Forget the insults from the haters.
 If you succeed in doing this
 Without having a troll infection...
 Tell me how.

Keep your old manga,
 Throw away cheap knock-offs from Korea.

Baka...

Don't be guilty of what anime you'll watch in life.
 The most interesting otaku I knew didn't know at 22 what they wanted to watch.
 Some of the sadder 40-year-olds I know still don't.

Eat plenty of Pocky.
 Be kind to your knees.
 You'll need them for bowing.

Maybe you'll marry; maybe you won't.
 Maybe you'll have kids; but probably won't.
 Maybe you'll watch Lupin III at the age of thirty.
 Maybe you'll dance while wearing nothing while waving a fan
 During a Cherry Blossom festival.

Whatever you do, don't congratulate yourself too much
 Or compare yourself to characters like Konata or Goku.
 Your choices are half-chance, but in the end
 You'll get tired of the Yaoi fangirls.

Enjoy your body. Most ladies are killing themselves
 By trying to replicate the bustiness of women like Faye Valentine or Rangiku Mastumoto.

Kawaii.

There are plenty of these around in most anime.
 Read the directions, even if you don't follow
 Do not piss off Lina Linverse
 She will blast you with a Dragon Slave.

Get to know your manga-ka.

You'll never know when the ink may run out.
 Get to know your seiyuus.
 They are the best link to your entertainment
 As well as the American voices that do the dub.

Understand the logistics of the Saiyans.
 They are the ones who know how to pull off
 The Kame-hame-ha.
 But God help you if they go Super Saiyan while Taking a crap.

Voice act in New York City once
 But leave before you're hired by 4Kids.
 Voice act in Texas once, but be concerned over the lack of black voice-actors in the talent pool.

Moe.

Accept certain inalienable truths:
 Naruto's a ninja
 Haruhi's a god
 And you too will grow old.

And when you do, you'll fantasize that when you were younger...
 Ninjas wore black
 Students were anything but normal
 And people respected Veronica Taylor.
 Respect her and many others in the American scene.

Don't expect your viewing habits to support you.
 Maybe you have a trust fund.
 Maybe you live with your mother.
 But you'll never know if either of them will run out.

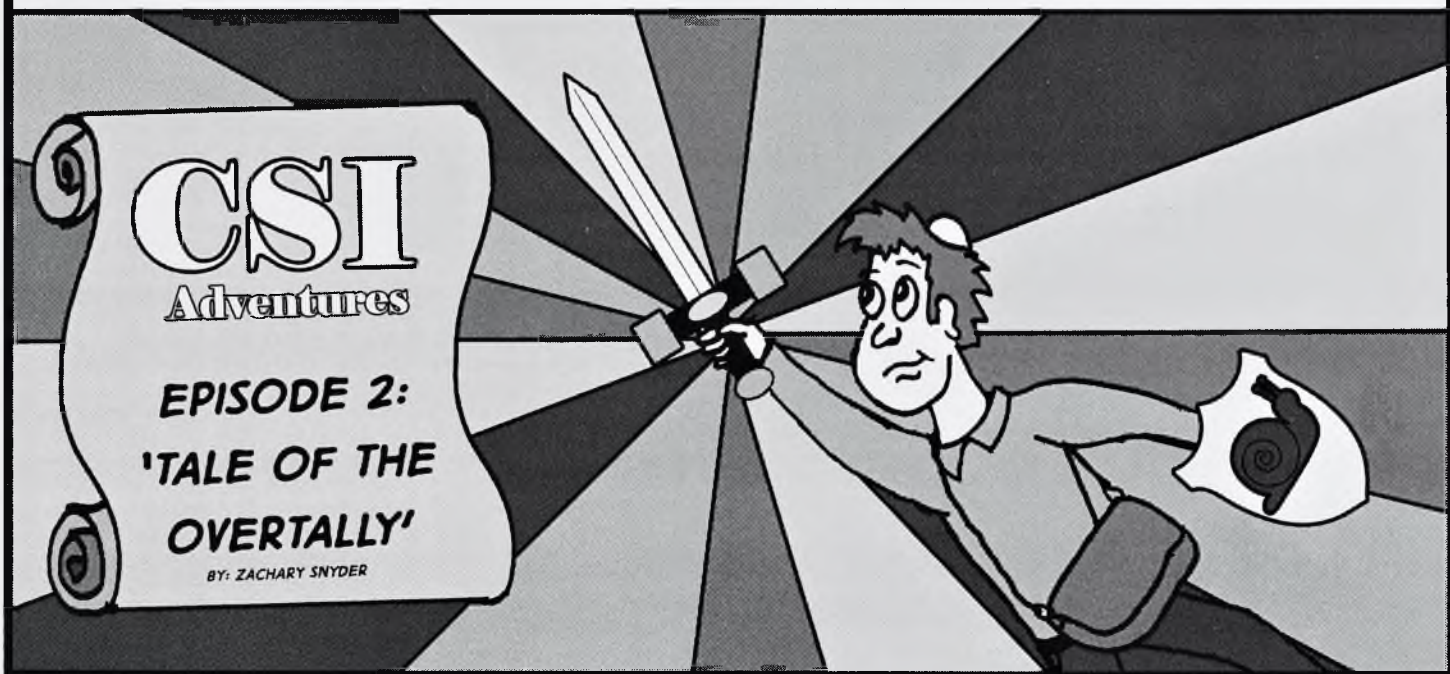

Be careful of what anime you watch.
 Some anime might be good, sometimes a nice short OVA.
 Or a bad one, which makes you wish you were watching a hentai,
 Even though the hentai is about as fake as the breasts on a WWE Diva.
 But either way, you're still having a good time.

But trust me on the anime.

Now if you'll excuse me, the con is closed.

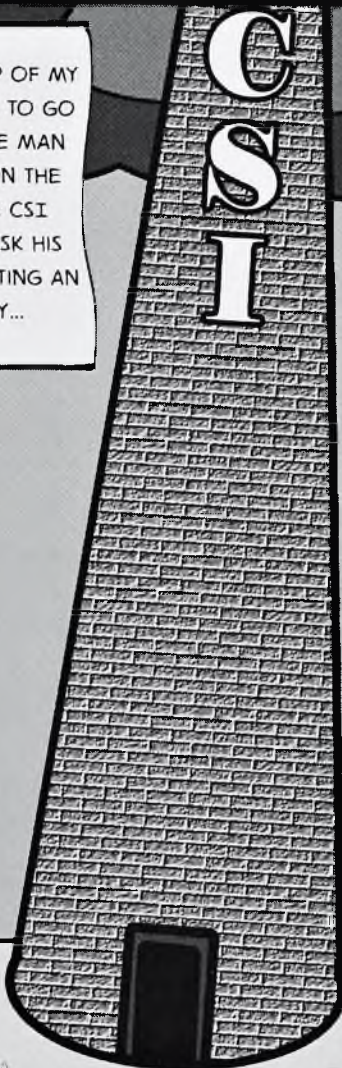

THE FIRST STEP OF MY JOURNEY WAS TO GO VISIT THE WISE MAN WHO LIVES ON THE TOP OF THE CSI TOWER, TO ASK HIS ADVICE IN GETTING AN OVERTALLY...

Okay, I'm dressed...
 When's the fashion mogul arriving?

... I'm speechless...

If Aunt Carol doesn't appreciate this, someone or something's getting sucker-punched!

I know I bust your chops and all, but I gotta say, you actually clean up nice!

No seriously, Katie! You look really good! How'd you pull it off?

If I show you, you gotta promise not to tell Dad...

You call it "cleaning up nice", I call it looking like a street-walker!

Oh, I should have guessed... I knew you wouldn't actually wear make-up, but I didn't think you'd go to this extent to avoid it, though...

Hey, I'm also making a statement here! I'm pretty sure you can see the moral behind the mask...

Yes, /do...but I doubt that Aunt Carol is the "analytical" type, so you're probably wasting your time here...

JERSEY SHORE: BEHIND THE TAN

BY Nick Gonzalez / ILLUSTRATED BY Mike Young

Over the course of the past year, the eight cast members of MTV’s “Jersey Shore” have tanned, fist-pumped and smushed their ways into our hearts and living rooms. I know I am not alone in wondering just what the hell this classy bunch does with their free time. Ever curious, we here at O3LD were lucky enough to get exclusive interviews with several cast members, in an effort to find out just that.

Ima Ninterviewer: So, Mr. Sorrentino...

Mike “The Situation” Sorrentino: Call me “Situation”.

Ninterviewer: Okay. Mr. Situation, you’ve risen to instant stardom thanks to exposure you’ve received from “Jersey Shore”, as well as sales from your workout DVD, clothing line, colognes, soaps, bath salts, baseball caps, trading cards, mops, toaster-ovens and various other household appliances. Your fans are just dying to know, what exactly is it that Mr. Situation does with his spare time?

Situation: Yeah, bro, I try to keep busy. I’ll let you in on a little secret that most people might not know about The Situation.

Ninterviewer: And what would that be?

Situation: If you will refer to Exhibit A (lifts shirt and gestures at abs), you will notice my situation. As you might guess, it's not easy to get yourself abs like these. I do 10,000 crunches a day and workout at least 8 days a week.

Ninterviewer: But, that's not possi....

Situation: WHOA! Bro, you never interrupt The Situation before he's finished.

Ninterviewer: My fault. Sorry, you were saying?

Situation: Right. So you can imagine the kind of pressure it takes to be The Situation. Girls constantly takin' their tops off when they see me, all the free meals and tans.....it's hard to be me.

Ninterviewer: Sure, sure.....

Situation: So, to feel better about myself, I take one month every year to get "unsituated".

Ninterviewer: Come again?

Situation: Yeah bro!!! Every year from October to November, I eat as much spaghetti and meatballs as my mom can cook. I try not to slip in crunches, but in moments of weakness, I'm known to pump out a few hundred, give or take. It feels good knowing I can give something back to all the less fortunate people who want to be me.

Ninterviewer: So what you are basically telling me is you take one month out of the year to sit on your ass and let yourself go to feel better about being rich and muscular?

Situation: Hey, I'm no hero. Someone's gotta keep it fresh to death, dawg, and I'm just The Situation to do it (winks and lifts shirt once more for good measure).

Ninterviewer: Okay, Snooki, how about you? What is something you're willing to share about your life that the cameras haven't already revealed?

Nicole "Snooki" Polizzi: Well, everyone knows that my favorite thing to eat in the whole wide world is pickles. What you probably don't know is that there are at least 999 ways to cook a pickle....and I've detailed them all in my new book!

Ninterviewer: (reading cover) Pickles And Poufs: The Diary of Snooki. Wait, I'm confused. Is it a tell-all book or a book of recipes?

Snooki: Both! Chasin' big, tan, muscle-bound guidos all day makes me hungry. In fact, wait a minute....(looks through purse) Here it is. Try one!!!

Ninterviewer: Is that...is that a chocolate covered pickle?

Snickers: Mhm. My favorite!!!

Ninterviewer: (Aside) I don't get paid nearly enough to do this....

Shnookz: You wanna smush?

Ninterviewer: ....

Ninterviewer: Sigh... Hello, Ronnie. Is there anything enlightening you'd care to share with avid readers and fans alike? What are some of your favorite things to do?

Ronnie: (grunts)

Ronnie's translator: Ronnie says he enjoys long walks on the beach, a good Nicholas Sparks novel, and reading and interpreting poetry, especially Shakespeare's sonnets!!!

Ronnie: (grunts)

Ronnie's translator: Wait, what was that last part?

Ronnie: (grunts)

Ronnie's translator: Ah, heard that wrong, sorry. And big-pimpin' with the ladies!!!

Ronnie would also like to point out that the terms juice-head and gorilla are offensive and hurtful. He hopes to one day live in a world where guidos and other, not as attractive people can co-exist in harmony.

Ninterviewer: Duly noted. Well, that's all the time we have today with the cast of Jersey Shore!!!

*While Angelina Pivarnick, Staten Island's self-proclaimed "Kim Kardashian", was unable to attend the interview, we contacted her management to find out what we could. While we received little to no substantial information concerning Angelina's life post-Jersey Shore, we may or may not have been paid handsomely to say nice things about Ms. Pivarnick and promote her upcoming single, "I'm Hot." Buy it today at your local music retailer!!!**

*The opinions expressed above do not, in any way, shape or form, reflect those of the O3LD staff. We highly suggest you do NOT purchase this single. We also highly encourage you to keep reading this magazine.**

I had a wonderful night, Tommy. It's too bad we had to settle for an on-campus flick instead of going to see a real movie...

Ah, don't worry about it, I still had fun. Want to head back to your place for a double feature?

Kiss on it?

Sure!

Katie?! What the hell are you doing in my car?

Yeah, but I live in Tottenville, while you live in the freaking middle of nowhere; in the woods, no less!

And what if I say "no"?

If not, I'll sit like a third wheel and make things very awkward for you and Timmy over here...

"Timmy"?

I need to bum a ride home. The stupid MTA bus decided to NOT "go my way" and pass me right by as I got to the stop.

All the more reason that I need a ride, stupid!

What's the term for "c[lick]blocking" that applies to chicks instead of dudes? Because I'm gonna do...well... THAT!

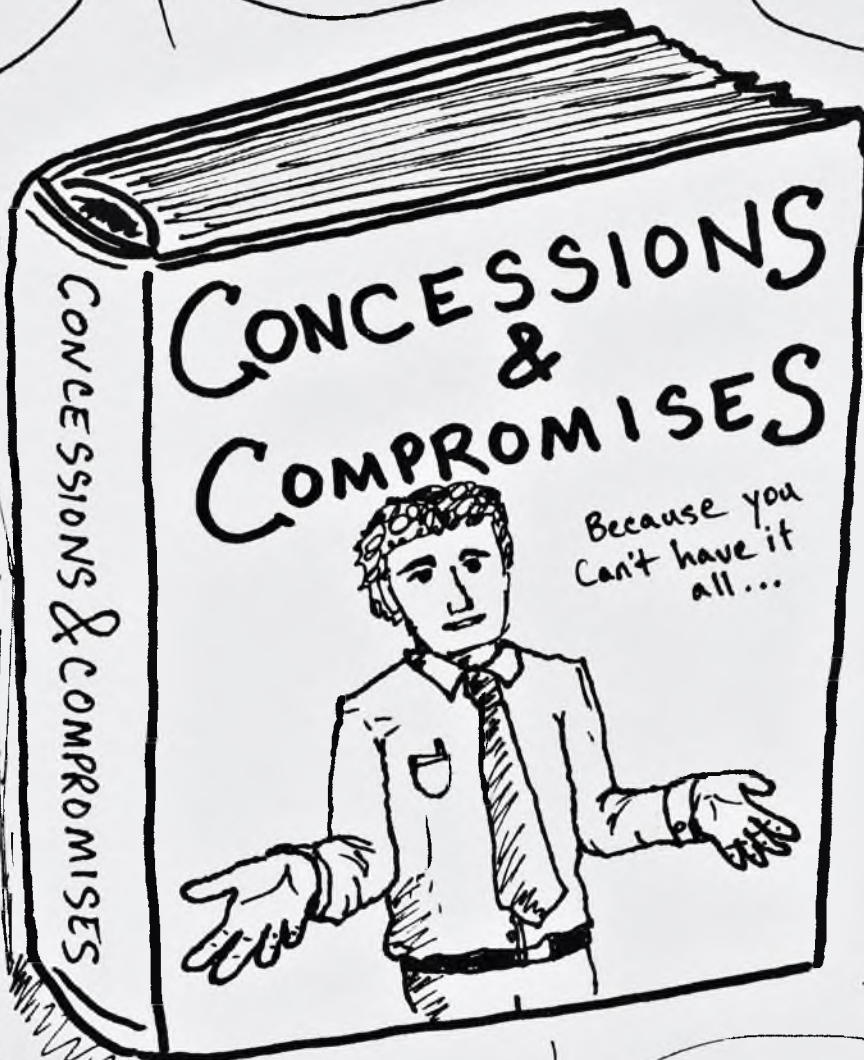

Unless Jasmine complies, you two are gonna have to skip "seeing a movie" for tonight, because things are gonna get weird up in here!

Some are red and some are blue.
Some are lucky and some are screwed.

Some sound meeker and some sound bleaker. At least one is a plain old trouble seeker.
Why are they meeker and bleaker and a trouble seeker? I don't know. Go ask the Speaker.

Some ducks will stay and some will go.
The one's that go are fucked, they know.

From House to Senate, from Senate to House, filibusters everywhere.
Here are some who like to fight.
They fight out of spite with fright and might.

Some bills about Medicare and some about spending means.

I love you, Katie! Run away with me, and we shall wed and have many children together, who will all grow up to become uber-ninjas who will save the world!

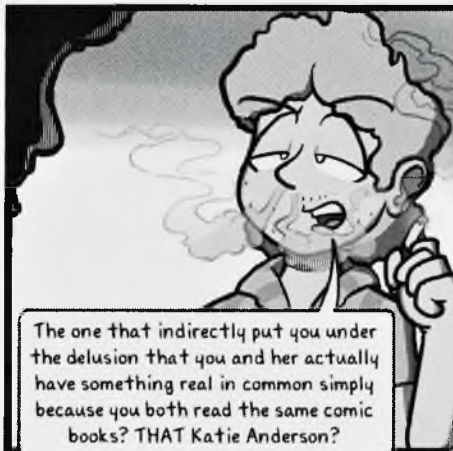

I will, Jake! I will!

I put 'Final Countdown' on the field...

You do realize that you have no chance with her, right?

Katie Anderson, right?

The one that indirectly put you under the delusion that you and her actually have something real in common simply because you both read the same comic books? THAT Katie Anderson?

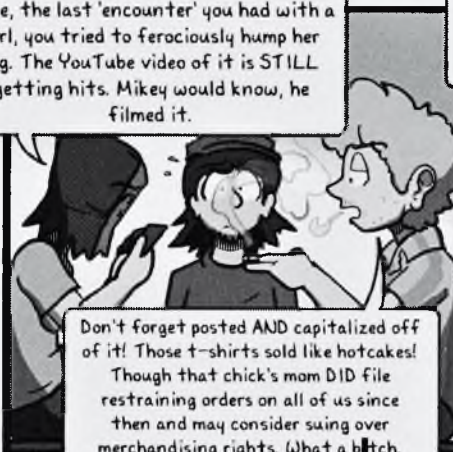

Yeah, no chance. I put my 'Flaming Ninja Dragon' into my graveyard.

Hey, screw you, Mikey!

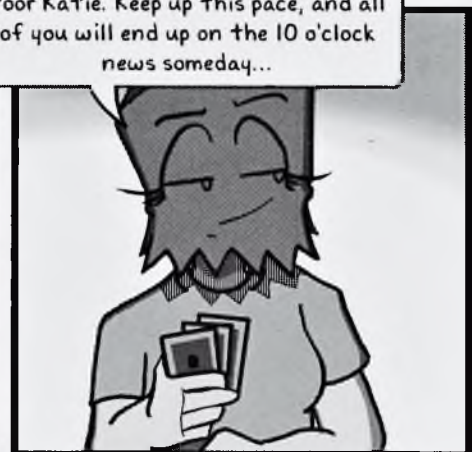

Megan, what do you think? I've got a chance, right?

Jake, the last 'encounter' you had with a girl, you tried to ferociously hump her leg. The YouTube video of it is STILL getting hits. Mikey would know, he filmed it.

Don't forget posted AND capitalized off of it! Those t-shirts sold like hotcakes! Though that chick's mom DID file restraining orders on all of us since then and may consider suing over merchandising rights. What a b!tch.

Poor Katie. Keep up this pace, and all of you will end up on the 10 o'clock news someday...

I place 'Time Stopper' onto the field, and I place one card face down. Your move, Jake...

I-I place 'One-Testaced Rainbow Fairy Monster' onto the field. Attack ups 200 points, defense ups 50 points.

Yeah.....go back to your wet dream, Jake...

Just goes to show that you're NEVER playing with a full deck. Ever.

D'you ever wonder about life, Katie?

Hmm?

You know, about life in general?

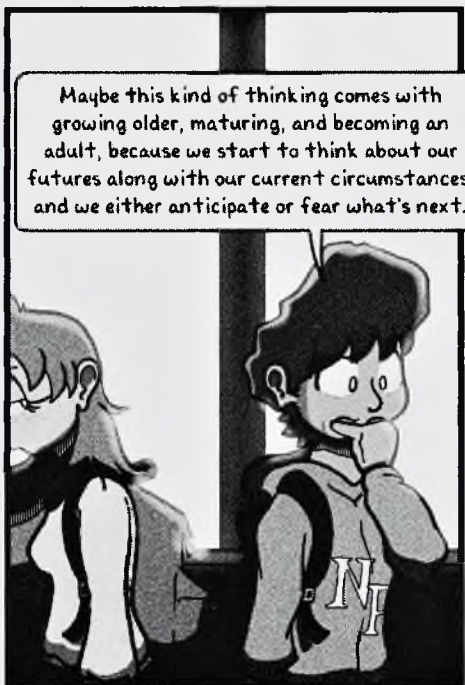

We spend all day stressing the little things; so much so that we never get a chance to think about just why we're here or what we're destined to do, almost like, we just go through the motions without realizing it.

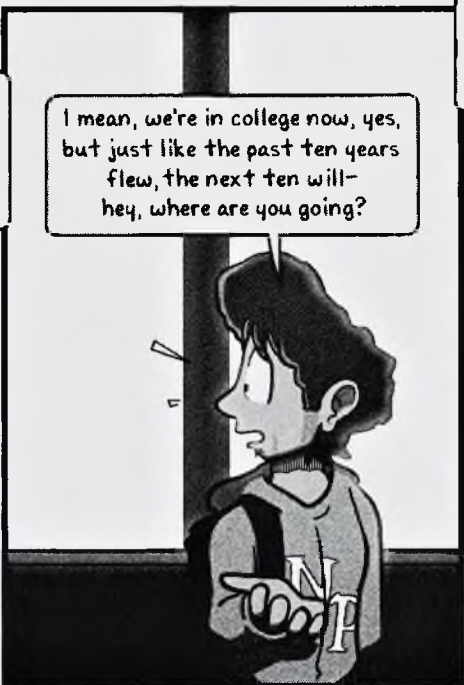

STEP 1: FACE WALL
 STEP 2: BASH HEAD
 STEP 3: REPEAT UNTIL CONCUSSION

Work. School. Relationships. Politics. Family. The stress has no end. How can one person be expected to handle it all by his or her self?

Maybe this kind of thinking comes with growing older, maturing, and becoming an adult, because we start to think about our futures along with our current circumstances, and we either anticipate or fear what's next.

I mean, we're in college now, yes, but just like the past ten years flew, the next ten will—hey, where are you going?

You know what I think? I think life's a little too short to be thinking this much. Ignorance is bliss, kiddo.

It takes all kinds to make up the unique bunch that is the Operation Three-Legged Dolphin staff, so it's no surprise that the different members have different priorities, views and ideas for the magazine.

This photograph was taken at one of the meetings during the production of this issue. These individual pie charts show just what went through the staff members' minds when they envisioned the magazine. The original formula for the content ratio of each issue was as follows: 50% articles, 13% comic strips, 12% picking on the Third Rail and 25% "other". Whatever that "other" is, only former Editor-in-Chief Mike Young knows.

Speaking of Mike, his idea for the magazine deviated a smidge by issue 3. A statistic taken by an undisclosed source shows that issue 3 was meant to be 95% "penis". The truth, reasoning and logic behind that statistic are best left unquestioned. When the current Editor-in-Chief of Serpentine Magazine, Alicia Rebelo, came on board for this issue, all she could think of was "sock puppet," much to the dismay of Assistant Editor Matt Young and his... socks.

Due to an unforgettably hilarious accident by Matt Young, the same source shows that the only thing going through his mind was ordering enough Chinese food to feed 23 people for one of the meetings. Eight people showed up, and epic lulz ensued; thus causing the Great Chinese Food Calamity of 2010. A lot of things happened during the past two years. What will happen next with our humble little magazine remains to be seen, but until then, we can only hope you enjoy what we all have accomplished so far and what we will have planned soon.
