Editorial

Welcome students to your guide of CSI club life. The editorial staff of Student Life envisions that our newsletter will serve as a vital asset for the student body at the College of Staten Island. It has become increasingly difficult for clubs to reach the students and we will bridge that gap. Clubs are among the most significant organizations on our campus and they should be fully publicized and supported. Club activities allow students to gain valuable experience by developing vital organizational and social skills as well as having fun. Without support for our clubs, students will be confined to the arena of the classroom. This publication is intended not only for the use of students not currently involved in clubs, but also as a resource for current clubs to link together. Club activities are a mechanism through which our campus' most active students can work to create a successful, exciting learning environment. We will continue our dedicated service to the student body and we anticipate that clubs will take advantage of this valuable new resource. For further information on clubs listed in this newsletter, contact Student Government (1C-207) or call (718) 982-3082.

This club was established to provide a forum for all students of African descent and those interested in African issues and culture to come together and learn about Africa and celebrate the culture. These goals will be achieved through meetings, lectures, conference, and social activities.

Alpha Phi Delta

Our purpose is to conduct an organization having for its objective the common advantage of its members. We will achieve this end, to unite and bond college students of good character by stimulating good scholarship, good fellowship, and loyalty to one's alma mater.

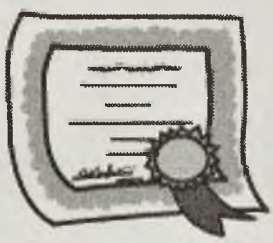

THE AMERICAN MARKETING ASSOCIATION

The association will invite guest lecturers in the area of a career development in the marketing profession. It will sponsor trips to various functions and events to promote networking with professional organizations. The club will establish affiliations with marketing firms to develop internship programs and enable students in the marketing program or those interested in an opportunity to join with others to realize similar career goals.

Chi Kappa Phi

The purpose of this organization shall be to promote camaraderie among the students of the College of Staten Island. This purpose shall be met by utilizing a series of scholastic events, non-scholastic social events, and through works in the community.

African Studies Club

The African Studies Club will facilitate a better understanding of African history and culture. The African Studies Club operates as a multi-cultural, multi-racial organization with the goal of raising student awareness concerning current and past African issues. Throughout the semester the African Studies Club has sponsored many exciting and informative events on campus and we are working on more creative ideas for the future. We encourage all students to become active participants in their education and we wish to provide you with a vehicle to receive information that is not available in a conventional classroom setting.

The Apostolic Christian Life Center

The purpose of this organization is to present the college community:

- the knowledge and personhood of Jesus Christ.
- the role of Christianity in the social strata.
- the Bible with its influences in cultures, ethics, lifestyles, doctrines, literature, and politics.

We will reach our goals with the following:

- seminars and lectures
- symposiums and forums
- music
- distribution of information tracts
- guest speakers.

The Architecture Club

The club will invite guest lecturers in the area of career development in the Architecture profession and sponsor trips to events, functions and sites of Architectural interest to promote networking with professional organizations. The club will establish affiliations with Architecture firms for the purpose of developing internship programs and enabling students in the Architectural program or those interested in the opportunity to join with others to realize similar career goals.

The purpose of this organization is to network and communicate with all aspects of the media. The Communications Club proposes to achieve these goals through formal and informal functions, lectures, study groups and by publishing articles in various communication magazines.

The Communications Club

The purpose of the Associate Degree Nursing Student Club shall be to provide programs representative of fundamental and current professional issues and concerns in nursing and to aid in the development of the future nurse in his/her professional role, and his/her responsibility for the health care of people from multi-cultural backgrounds. We will promote collaborative relationships with faculty, other student groups, nursing and other health care organizations and by having guest speakers, programs and by participating in social and community functions.

The Associate Degree Nursing Student Club

Association of Performing & Creative Art Students (APCAS)

APCAS is an association of students interested in the performing and creative arts at the College of Staten Island. As an on-campus organization we seek to promote and develop various non-profit projects and events.

The central focus of APCAS as a student affiliation is the fusion of Actors, Dancers, Videographers, Photographers and any individuals involved in the production of art. Another goal of APCAS is to foster relationships between students and the industries they intend to pursue as career paths.

The Chinese Student Fellowship

The purpose of the club is to develop friendships by organizing a helping network, sharing the love of Jesus Christ, and encouraging mutual support for one another. We will organize regular group meetings, small groups, interest groups, support groups, special meetings, outings and special presentations to promote mutual support and encouragement.

The Computer Science Club

Goals of the Computer Science Club :

- 1) To join the Computer Science students and all the professors on one platform.
- 2) To share our knowledge, experience and goals.
- 3) To prepare the Computer Science students for the work field.

DELTA DELTA

Our purpose is to be recognized as the "giving, caring, trusting, and understanding" organization, where we will create a fellowship among college students who will work together in building and achieving lasting friendships and create a new tradition within the college atmosphere. The purpose that we have put before you will bring our new tradition forward by stressing devotion and sincerity to the organization by holding fund-raisers, not only for our own purposes, but also to help others, social gatherings for the student body, and open informative lectures on various issues facing today's college students.

Δ Ω Ε

The purposes of the Delta Omega Epsilon organization are :

- 1) To encourage and assist the academic progress of students-members.
- 2) To assist new Greek students when they come to C.S.I.
- 3) To provide information to students interested in going to Greece.
- 4) To introduce the Greek culture to non-Greek students.
- 5) To assist in the improvement of Greek-American relations.

The purpose of the Drama Club will be to provide students interested in the performing arts with an atmosphere of learning and information about how to launch a career in the Dramatic Arts. The Drama Club intends to achieve its purpose by arranging a series of lectures, group readings, workshops and performances.

The Drama Club

The High Society Organization

To promote friendship and academic and social activity within the College of Staten Island's environment. This organization proposes to achieve these goals by creating an atmosphere conducive to the academic and social development of students, with the focus being African American and Hispanic history and culture. This will include, but not be limited to the use of group meetings, fund-raising functions, discussions and lectures, and tutoring sessions.

THE HISPANIC CULTURAL SOCIETY

The organizational purpose is to stimulate the appreciation for Hispanic cultural heritage. This will be accomplished through forums, study groups, cultural trips, poetry, lectures, art exhibits, and other related cultural activities. Students will be encouraged to present their own work and share in open discussions about the process of developing their creations.

The English Club

The purpose of the English Club is to provide a friendly, informal atmosphere for those interested in literature, writing, and exploring the English language. The organization proposes to have study groups examining literature, forums on English major's job and graduate school options, and lectures on creative writing and poetry.

CSI History Club

The History Club will serve as a colloquium for students at the College of Staten Island who are interested in history and issues brought up by historians and other intellectuals. In conjunction with this, we will be providing a forum for students who are interested in pursuing a career in history to discuss relevant issues, utilize an outlet to speak of concerns and stresses, and get support for their roles as students of history or the social sciences.

Eager students swarm the Club Fair tables

The purpose of our organization is to educate new and existing students about current engineering practices in the industry. To increase the awareness of student needs to the engineering science faculty and administration. We propose to achieve the aforementioned by monthly meetings, which will include industry speakers, workshops on theory and tutoring sessions among upper/lower level.

Institute of Electronic and Electrical Engineers (Engineering)

The fashion club's agenda is to unite people of various backgrounds under one purpose - fashion. Fashion is an expression often used to define people and their personalities. Therefore, incorporating various cultures, religions, races, and ethnicities in this presentation of fashion will provide everyone with a comprehensive perspective of this universal language of fashion. The aim of the fashion club will entail organizing, on a semester basis, fashion shows and pageants.

The Fashion Club

The Fine Arts Club

The Institute of Electrical and Electronics Engineers Inc. (Electrical)

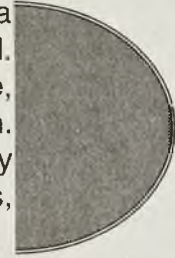

The purpose of the organization is to familiarize the student body with job opportunities and educational aspects associated with the electronics field. The club will provide speakers, discussions, field trips, films, and study aids.

The purpose of this club will include but not be limited to: enhancing and enriching the College of Staten Island community through the fine arts, and providing a place for Art majors and non-Art majors to discuss pertinent issues. These purposes will be achieved through lectures given by guest speakers, discussions prevalent to fine arts issues on campus, club exhibitions, and museum and gallery trips.

JEWISH CULTURE CLUB

The purpose of the organization is to establish a Jewish presence at the College of Staten Island. This organization will teach others about the life, cultures, laws, and history of the Jewish nation. This organization will achieve its purpose by having lectures, social gatherings, lunches, meetings and religious observances.

The purposes of the association is to make the students come closer together (no matter what language they speak and where they come from), to exchange their cultures, to help the new students (especially foreign students) during orientations and to increase communication between the students and the Center for International Services.

The International Student Association

Organization of Unique Individuals

The purpose of this organization is to support all disabled College of Staten Island students in any way they need. This organization intends to achieve these goals by offering early or special registration, individual testing when necessary, parking facilities, providing readers for the blind and distributing financial assistance and any other special services these students may need.

The Italian-American Club

The purposes of the Italian-American club are the following:

- 1) To encourage camaraderie among the Italian-American students of the College of Staten Island.
- 2) To promote a positive image of Italian-Americans and reduce the negative media stereotype.

The club will attempt to achieve these purposes by showing videos, using invited speakers, assisting students in the study of the Italian language and field trips.

I³

The Intellectual Interdisciplinary Institution plans to provide the students of this campus will valuable knowledge of new computer software and languages. I³ plans to implement this by holding weekly workshops and tutoring sessions. We plan to provide support in languages such as C++, Java, HTML and Delphi; and providing tutoring for today's popular applications such as: Wordperfect, Netscape and Excel.

Lesbian, Gay and Bisexual Student Association

A. To provide a forum for the development of a positive self-image for lesbian, gay, and bisexual students at the College of Staten Island.

B. To meet regularly to discuss issues of concern to lesbian, gay, and bisexual students at the College of Staten Island.

C. To establish a link to lesbian, gay, and bisexual faculty and staff who can provide support as well as self-esteem and essential positive reinforcement.

D. To forge alliances with other lesbian, gay, and bisexual students, both CUNY and outside the system.

To further any student's interest, understanding, and need in the field of Physical Therapy. The purpose shall be achieved through fund-raisers, the use of educational materials, promotional items, and practical experience.

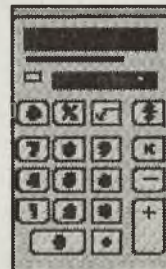

Mary McMillan Society

Muslim Student Association

MSA

The purpose of this organization is to introduce Muslims and non-Muslims to each other. Also, to make people aware of Muslim culture and tradition. The organization will try to achieve this purpose through lectures, forums and special events.

The purpose of this organization is to educate the students about the importance of mathematics, the latest discoveries in the mathematics field, and the opportunities for math majors in the job market. The organization intends to achieve these goals by the use of literature, lectures and field trips.

Mathematical Society

The Physician Assistant Club

The purpose of the Physician Assistant Club will be to inform and motivate students interested in a career as a physician assistant and to enhance and encourage those students already accepted into the curriculum. To achieve the purposes of this organization, lectures, seminars, study groups, etc. will be organized on campus and when necessary at the clinical sites.

The Political Science and Pre-Law Society

The purpose of this club is to cultivate a comprehensive awareness of today's society among our members. The club shall endeavor to inform new students in the fields of Political Science and Pre-Law to exchange real-life experiences and ideas, and to explore career and educational opportunities for the members. We shall achieve this through films, lectures, discussions and field trips.

Sociology Club

Sociology majors and other registered CSI students can have the opportunity to join a club that will promote social awareness and service the campus community. The organization intends to achieve the above purposes through lectures, forums, meetings and social activities with the members of the organization and those in the academic community.

THE PRE-MEDICAL SOCIETY

The purpose of the Pre-Medical Society will be to educate, motivate and encourage students interested in a career as a health professional; including dental, veterinary and graduate school. We propose to achieve this purpose by educating the students in the procedures that need to be taken for preparation to professional school. This will be done by creating a study group to prepare for the standardized tests administered such as the MCAT, DAT and GRE; mock interviews will be set up for the students to prepare for the Pre-Medical Committee's interview.

Psychology Club / Psi Chi

The club will seek to provide information, resources, and a forum for discussion and activity to students interested in issues related to the discipline of Psychology. The Club will advance its purpose through general meetings, lectures and/or discussions with the invited speakers, opportunities for travel to conferences and sites of interest to Psychology students, procurement of written materials relevant to the student career and/or general interest, and through social functions designed to enhance the spirit of collegiality among students interested in psychology. The Psi Chi component will provide information and clerical assistance relevant to gaining membership in the National Organization and will recognize new members in a formal induction ceremony.
