

Welcome to Dolphin '81 - the first yearbook published since our college changed from a Community College status to a four year accredited college. We, the yearbook staff, tried to incorporate every aspect of college life into this book. Thank you for supporting us and for making this yearbook possible.

MESSAGE TO GRADUATES

I have had the privilege of conferring degrees upon seven graduating classes. The class of 1981 is the first to publish a yearbook. The absence of class books during all those years attests dramatically to the difficulties public higher education in New York City has endured.

The College of Staten Island was sired by the 1975 fiscal crisis. During the difficult process of merging the two Island colleges into a unique four year institution, the College suffered severe fiscal, merger, and growing pains.

No functions, including student activities, escaped the impact of that traumatic period. Student leaders struggled to form a united, viable government and reinstitute student activities.

And they succeeded. The College has come through the crisis. Together we have defined a new mission, united all our operations and achieved the stability needed to forge a great future.

I thank the editors of the Yearbook and the Class of 1981 for this tangible symbol of our return to normality.

Treasure this book. It records an important moment in your life and in the history of your family. Your children and grandchildren and great-granchildren will remember, with pride, that you started the family tradition of attending the College of Staten Island.

The College Voice is the student newspaper at the College of Staten Island. This paper was recently merged from two papers — The Student Voice and The College Times. The paper is a joint effort, like the Yearbook, to try to incorporate the two separate campuses — Sunnyside and St. George.

LIFE: Spins to the sound of carousel music, faster and faster, year by year, finding myself growing in a thousand different ways

LIFE: Learning to run along the roads, learning to stop and look, decide upon observation; knowing inside that at times, the word itself becomes a profanity.

LIFE: Futures, careers, wondering if the words that run my life are worth any more than the paper they are written on; hoping deeply that they are and that a million years from now, my words will be touching someone's heart.

LIFE: Struggling to build self-confidence, losing it with someone's harsh words but picking up the pieces and beginning again — always wondering if it's worth beginning at all.

LIFE: All of this and more. To me, it's like making adult moves and retaining a child's dreams. It's like seeing a butterfly and knowing it's anatomical features, but needing only the freedom to reach the sky; the freedom to fly wherever the wind dictates.

LIFE: A never ending definition.

It's Your Friend

A friend that is near, but never afar, thinking of you, wherever you are. Reading your feelings, and feeling them too. Remembering good times when he thinks of you. Till the time comes, when we meet again, I'll still send my letters, to you, a good friend.

-Bob

The Sky's The Limit

"The sky's the limit" said the main in black.
"The sky's the limit". But the sky is no limit, when one's aim is a star. Can one who has reached for a star and missed, ever settle for the sky? I think not, for why would one reach if not to attain? I'd like to climb on rainbows someday. But dare I risk falling from such a dangerous height? Uncertainty is the worst feeling of all. But in my cloud of doubts, there is one fact I know for sure: The only time that the sky is the limit, is when one is satisfied sitting on the ground and looking up.

People, Places And Poems

The Journey To Sunnyside

In a life story, there are many revisions. Each chapter adds a new dimension. The words add images and visions Which are the student's self extension.

The expansion bridge before us spanned Our lives and paradigms of time. We bridged our gaps with a helping hand. And held our souls during the steep climb.

We travelled through hills encloved In vast expressways of the mind And breathed our poems and we moved. We lived the myths that seekers find.

We mirrored the times, in a rainbow age When lives were colored by classroom and test. We struggled through each academic stage, Considered priorities and strove for the best.

At our journey's destination We learned and earned varying degrees Of experience and education To open doors with the scholar's keys.

Lorraine Pistilli

Dreams Never Die

Dreams never die. They are not destroyed upon the waking, nor created upon the edge of sleep. They are the visions that inspire the poet's words, the colors in the aging mind of an artist. They are the life preservers for those drowning in loneliness. They are the lights that create the deceiving sparkle of Broadway. They are the sights, the sounds, the illusion, and the journey.

An old man leans upon a tree and dies in the same place. Dare we call his existence futile and wasteful? How can we, when the dreams tha filled his years remain as solid and as deeply rooted as the tree that marks his spot?

Dreams never die. No, they never die willingly. It is we, who kill them with our fatalism, our lack of faith, our fears of climbing away from a world where dreams are only for children. Dreams, I say, are for the living. Any man who claims himself to be a realist, is a dreamer simply for believing so. My dream is entangled within the very words upon this page. Yes, I am afraid. But my arms are strong, my mind is young, and my vision is always close enough to keep me striving.

Dreams never die, my friend. And I refuse to kill mine, for murdering a dream is not a crime punishable by law, but it is receiving a sentence of death, just the same . . .

IT'S ALL IN A STATE OF MIND

IF YOU THINK YOU ARE BEATEN, YOU ARE; IF YOU THINK YOU DARE NOT, YOU WON'T; IF YOU LIKE TO WIN, BUT DON'T THINK YOU CAN IT'S ALMOST A CINCH YOU WON'T.

IF YOU THINK YOU'LL LOSE, YOU'RE LOST; FOR OUT IN THE WORLD YOU'LL FIND SUCCESS BEGINS WITH A FELLOW'S WILL; FOR MANY A GAME IS LOST BEFORE A PLAY IS RUN.
AND MANY A COWARD FAILS BEFORE HIS WORK IS BEGUN.

THINK BIG AND YOUR DEEDS WILL GROW; THINK SMALL AND YOU'LL FALL BEHIND; THINK THAT YOU CAN AND YOU WILL; IT'S ALL IN A STATE OF MIND.

IF YOU THINK YOU ARE OUT-CLASSED, YOU ARE; YOU'VE GOT TO THINK HIGH TO RISE; YOU'VE GOT TO BE SURE OF YOURSELF BEFORE YOU CAN EVER WIN A PRIZE.

LIFE'S BATTLES DON'T ALWAYS GO TO THE STRONGER OR FASTER MAN. BUT SOONER OR LATER, THE MAN WHO WINS IS THE FELLOW WHO THINKS HE CAN.

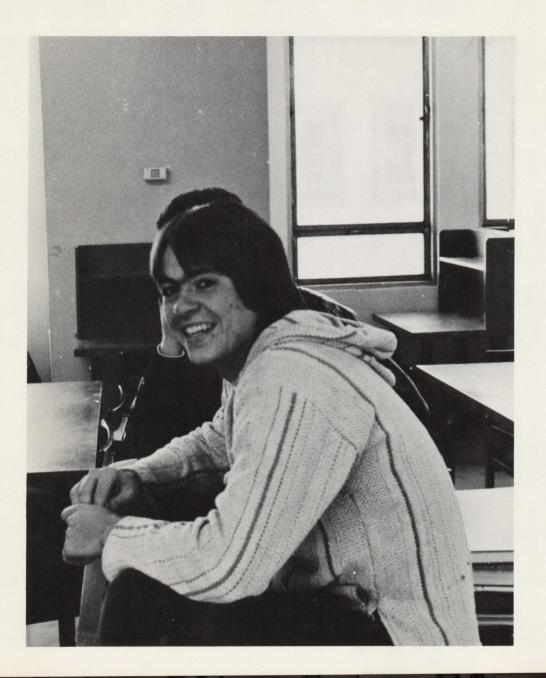

Remember-a positive attitude produces positive results.

The population of the College of Staten Island and many other people felt a tragic loss on November 12, 1980. Joe Nastasi died after sustaining injuries from an automobile accident which happened in New Jersey on November 1, 1980. Anyone who knew Joe would be able to tell you that he was a great person. He was very out going and athletic. Any sport that could be imagined he loved and played — from skiing to horse back riding. He would do anything for anyone no matter what the situation. Joe was attending the college and was planning on getting a degree in electronics. He was involved in the Student Government. During his free time he worked in the sight and sound room located in the library in the Sunnyside Campus. No matter what time of day or night, Joe always had a smile on his face. He was a very easy going person who had a warm heart and seemed to be forever happy. He had a lust for life and always had a glow about him.

Joe will be missed by everyone who knew him. All we can do is hope and pray that wherever he is that he's enjoying himself.

Thanks to Linda Principe for her contributions of poetry and her many wonderful articles about our need for support with this yearbook in the College Voice.

Special thanks to Evelyn Doty for without her original inspirations this yearbook would not be a reality.

While turning the pages of an endless book, How many times do we take a good look? Reading the lines as if acting a scene, No use considering what lies in between. We are no more than fools, in a wise man's disguise, Blind leading blind, despite open eyes. Led by the noses and held by the hands, As ritualistic as a beach etched in sand. The sequence of living should move like a stream, And to pattern existence, is to shatter a dream.

Linda Principe
