Black Struggle Against EducationalColonialism

By Anne Fanciullo

Saturday, December 6th, saw the culmination of what was considered an important factfinding session geared to black educational problems throughout the city. The informal workshop was conducted by a group of concerned students who feel the only true solution to the ghetto and its related effects can be found in education.

A first-hand view of the problem was enacted in a film which depicted the behind the scenes traumas of blacks in their fight against the inadequate educational system. They contend that in spite of the fact that 42% of the total enrollment ir the city's public schools are blacks, the city is ignorant of the specialized troubles of minority group members. The film also pointed out the existence of a strong anti-Semitic feeling whereby most city teachers are Jewish. Their classroom tactics, as well as that of other teachers, are mercinary: they have no rapport with the black child and no general interest is taken in actually teaching the class. Simply, they are hired baby sitters who occupy the children's time with "busy work" while each pay check arrives promptly every Monday morning.

Their objections to this educational void also incorporate the fact that Black History is not stressed, or in most instances not even included in the curriculum; thereby giving black children a "dead end" upon which to formulate a knowledge of themselves, their heritage and culture, and their relation to society.

Forum participants initiated a

rounding the efforts of citizen's to gain community control of their local schools and the disadvantages of the decentralization procedures. Community control, they believe, is an obvious necessity when the black community receives no response to their plea to the BE for such educational advantages that white community schools in more affluent areas take for granted. Blacks insist that the quality of education falls far below par and does not afford them an equal opportunity of seeking a higher education. Where a school is predominantly black, and where those children are mainly from a certain part of the city, the will of the minority of white non-residents should not be imposed upon the minority, especially when that dictatorship bears no relevance upon the black community. Decentralibation, which is funded outside the locality by the city, involves the reapportionment of these districts regardles, of predominating ethnic populations. Local community control, therefore, provides parents with an easy access to policy and decision making which directly affects their own children in their respective neighborhoods. They can have a say in the hiring and firing of teachers, courses cancelled or added, and such factors. as cutbacks in the school lunch programs, the issue of student disruptions, and the maintenance of law and order can be met without the interference of city hall red tape.

"Sam Wohl for Pres.!" was a popular campaign slogan on campus two months ago. Now that Mr. Wohl and his colleagues have slid into office, what actually has the Student Government been planning?

"I have a job to do," said Mr. Wohl, "someone had to clean-up the mess. I personally feel that a change of personality in Student Government is a healthy thing." The president said that by referendum the students themselves will make decisions on major issues.

"During the past two months," Sam continued, "we've been concerned with getting off the ground. "The Student Government is busy organizing committees and tutorial programs to deal with the future problem of Open Admissions." "As soon as a referendum committee is formed, we'll have referendums, for the students on censorship and Open Admissions," Mr. Wohl commented. The newly elected SG has already organized two clubs, the Hispanic American League and Womens Liberation. Some administration members are on commissions concerned with the interests of the Student Body, however, the SG officers say that they haven't been keeping too close a contact with President Birenbaum. "I'm sure," said Mr.

Wohl, "we'll have closer cooperation with him and the administration in the future."

As vice-president of the Student Government, Tony Lepere plans the agenda, attends corporation meetings and he acts as laison between government members and the SG president. "I would like to see this school turn into a four year college," said Mr. Lepere, "I would also like to see the Student Government's ideas and proposals as an answer to Open Admissions. I want to set up a ministry of transportation to deal with parking and bus service. We haven't had much co-operation from President Birenbaum. However, we don't make him act and I don't act for him."

Arlann Harper's duties as Chief Justice includes trying court cases. The court makes decisions on conflicts between associations in the college, and questions arising about the constitution. Students who violate rules are also tried before the court. Shannon Jones and James Samuels aid Arlann in making court decisions. "There are many more details I have to look into," said Arlann. "We're going to have a meeting with the Student Activiti 3 to clear up some things in my mind. I think the students should be involved as much as possible in Student Government. The government is going to be as good as student participation makes it."

"The Student Government," stated Sam Wohl, "is made up of Hispanic Americans, Afro-Americans and Whites. Together, they will decide along with the officers of the S.G. what programs will be instituted for the benefit of the Black and Puerto Rican students. This year's Student Government is different from last years," he continued, "because this year we are interested in making progressive changes, not regressive. You don't need a bureaucracy, you need people that will help. Leaders in the past and leaders at present were and are interested in their own personal gain and therefore Senators and officers should be elected in the interest of the Student Body."

The president, vice-president and Chief Justice have had no previous experience in Staten Island Community College's Student Government. Aside from posting his schedule in the office, the president exhibits a large sign next to his desk. The inscription reads, "When answering phone state, "This is Student Government, all power to the people."

Students To Do Anti-War Work On Christmas Vacation

The Vietnam Moratorium Committee has announced that one of its major efforts in December will be activity by students in their home towns during Christmas vacation. Activities suggested include canvassing neighborhoods, distributing leaflets to shoppers, organizing of high school students, sending delegations to elected officials, and holding vigils or processions on Christmas Eve, one of the three Moratorium days this month.

Sam Brown, co-ordinator of the Vietnam Moratorium Committee said, "It would, indeed, be a tragedy to miss the opportunity to carry the anti-war movement from our university communities to our home towns. The work necessary to end the war in Viethe restricted to the nam cannot a lasting influence. Spokesmen for the Moratorium pointed out that many students will return to their towns again in January for between semester break and could expand upon the initial December activity then. Thus antiwar sentiment could be solidified or peace group organized in many areas which have seen little antiwar activity to date.

The Vietnam Moratorium Committee sponsored the October 15 Moratorium, and the activities around the country on November 13 and 14. The Moratorium Days for December are the 12th, 13th and 24th. The entire focus for the month is on small scale, basically grass-roots activity which will be modest in scope. On the 12th and 13th, canvassing leafletting will take place in many cities and towns across the nation. In addition, town meetings are being held in some localities to discuss the effect of defense and military spending upon local needs. Others are planning to visit the district office of their congressmen to disc_ss his position on the war and to make clear that support in the 1970 election will be assured only if the congressman opposes the Moratorium to normal Christmas religious activities. Among the events which will take place are vigils, procession preceeding church services, caroling which will emphasize "Peace on Earth." and special church services. (Full details of the December 24th activity will be announced shortly).

The Moratorium Days for December are the 12th, the 13th, and the 24th. Because the local situations are so varied, we recognize that in some places planning activities for all three days may not be feasible. It is important that the activities planned assume a significance in the community and are effective in bringing attention to the continuation of the war and broadening local antiwar sentiment.

A. Proposal for Simultaneous Town Meetings On Local Needs and Military Spending

1. Since the beginning of 1969, the concept of a reordering of national priorities has made considerable headway in the U.S. Propelled initially by the campaign against the ABM, the drive for a reordering of priorities has amassed new support in Congress and among voluntary organizations. Democratic and Republican Senators and Congressmen, mayors of major cities, civil rights organizations which have never before previously taken a stand on military expenditures, several labor unions and the Urban Coalition, have this year urged the massive transfer of resources from the military to help meet domestic civilian needs.

3. Content of Meeting

a. Proportion of Federal income tax spent on military activities in relation to domestic and local needs such as health care, education, pollution, housing, transportation, welfare, poverty, and jobs.

b. Federal money which has come back to the community in the past fiscal year to be spent on solving social problems and improving the quality of life for all the residents of the community is vastly inadequate. Why?

c. Examination of what the unmet needs of the city are and the approximate cost of meeting those needs.

areas where we have already been active. We must 'Take the Moratorium Home for Christmas."

The Vietnam Moratorium Committee recently sent a special memo to its more than 3,000 campus organizers urging them to devote their attention to this effort. Students were encouraged to contact other students from their home towns now on other campuses. In addition, they should contact existing peace groups or sympathetic persons in home towns to bring them into the planning with the hope that the Christmastime effort could have

I. The activities projected for December are focused around:

A. Public meetings to be held in many cities to discuss Vietnam and domestic priorities. These will be coordinated with The Coalition on National Priorities and Military Spending

B. Organizing around the record of district Congressmen and visits to district offices to make it clear that representatives will receive active support only if they oppose the war.

C. Strongly identifying the traditional theme of "Peace on Earth" with Peace in Vietnam through church and community

December Moratorium . . .

1. The 12th and 13th are two of the heaviest shopping days before Christmas, and large crowds can be expected in shopping areas. Department stores, airports, and bus and train stations should also be heavily leafleted.

2. Last month the "Postcards for Peace" campaign was initiated. Plans are now to arrange a distinguished delegation to personally convey these to the White House. We already have received hundreds of thousands, but to extract maximum effectiveness from this campaign, this number should be brought up to the millions. If local organizations have not already done so, these postcards should be carried during canvassing and leafleting operations, collected, and mailed in bulk here.

(Continued from Page 1) same parents, many undereducated and possibly misinformed, capable of making the decisions which effect a whole community. and, if so, are these decisions justifiable in the light of education or in the light of minority clashes and individual differences? To possibly combat the former of these two proposals, forum members suggested a series of up-to-date films be shown in troubled neighborhoods by which parents can keep abreast of any new developments and at the same time measure the worth of their progress in formulating their resolutions.

The newly formed Ne Brighton Community Development Association (N.B.C.D.A.) also proposed the building of a day care center on Staten Island funded solely by the black community and excluding all interference from city or state. It would be modeled after the successful project started in Brooklyn which > 1. We have received many letters from GI's expressing their support for the anti-war movement and asking for further information and help. In the months ahead, it seems clear that GI's will become increasingly more active in peace activities. These activities must be encouraged and supported within each local community.

> 2. To give support and visibility to the efforts of the GI's who oppose the war, candlelight vigils can be organized with GI's around the theme that "GI's Want To End the War in Vietnam Too." a. These should be held in the most visible and heavily traf-ficed location in the town. b. It is important that the event be announced in churches and at meetings of other peace groups, in leaflets distributed contains ample space for 150 children, ranging in age from 3 months to 6 years. Originally designed as a place where working mothers could leave their children with competent volunteers, plans are now in the works to gradually transform the center to a private institution with grades from nursery through high school.

This same possibility could become reality on Staten Island with COOPERATION. For without full, energetic interest in such an undertaking as a day care center, all things remain at a stand-still. Questions such as location, staff, fund-raising, etc. may be bothersome and require dull meetings. But there is no reason why, in a school where reform movements abound and where opinions and perspectives are demonstrated, do we see the Black Forum meeting representative of about twenty persons, and do we find words speaking louder than actions.

With just 42 cents you can do your part to help launch the fight against cancer.

throughout the community, in coffee-houses, and in the underground GI papers.

c. The date, place scheduled, and purpose should be announced to the media.

to the media. M. It is important that the purpose of the vigil be clearly stated, and the image projected should be one of solidarity for the men in uniform who are restricted by military regulations from dissenting and from exercising their constitutional rights of free assembly and free speech.

e. This demonstration of support for GI's can be inaugurated on the evening of the 12th as the beginning of a community program to bring GI's into the community during the holiday season.

3. Encourage church groups, peace groups, civic groups, and individuals to invite GI's into their homes to celebrate the holiday.

4. These same groups should be urged to send Christmas "peace cards" overseas to the men fighting in Vietnam.

a. Simply address the card "To A Serviceman."

b. Write a brief note inside expressing your support and asking if there is anything in particular that you can send him. c. Deposit the card at the nearest USO who will mail them overseas where they will be distributed.

5. The anti-war movement must make a sincere and special effort to support and further involve GI's. These programs are the beginning of really solidifying the cause of the peace movement with the cause of the servicemen. With this as a foundation, it will be possible to expand the kinds of programs with GI's so that the anti-war sentiment which so many GI's silently express can be publicly brought to the nation's attention.

II. General Interest

A. Supreme Court Rules on Freedom of Speech in Secondary Schools

1. Many high school students have been organizing in support of the Moratorium in spite of school edicts restricting their freedom. A Supreme Court decision is extremely relevent to the freedom of high school students and should be widely known:

From the findings in the "Tinker et al, V. Des Moines Independent Community School District, et al" November 12, 1968.

"First Amendment rights, applied in light of the special characteristics of the school environment, are available to teachers and students. It can hardly be argued that either students or teachers shed their constitutional rights to freedom of speech or expression at the schoolhouse gate. This has been the unmistakable holding of this court for almost 50 years." (Opinion of the Court-393 U.S. p. 506). "If a regulation were adopted by school officials forbidding discussion of the Vietnam conflict, or the expression by any student of opposition to it anywhere on school properly except as part of a prescribed classroom exercise, it would be obvious that the regulation would violate the constitutional rights of students, at least if it could not be justified by a showing that the students' activities would materially and substantially disrupt the work and discipline of a school." (393 U.S. p. 513).

Nixons Cancer Cuts: Unfair

and the Revolutionary Action Press

In January of this year the Cancer Research Fund took a large cut in its budget at the hands of the Nixon Administration. This budget cut came at a time when many scientists were so close to finding some of the answers. The president took money from them when he should have given them additional funds.

In light of this, a committee was set up in SICC on December 15 to solicit support to pressure President Nixon to apportion more money for cancer research. The name of the committee is the National Collegiate Association for the Conquest of Cancer. All the NCACC is asking you to do is to write seven letters signed by seven people of voting age to President Nixon, stating that you demand that more money be added to the Cancer Research Fund. Cancer Research was allocated only $180 million for 1969. The U.S. government spends almost twice that amount for one trip to the moon. Consumers in this country spend more than 100 times that amount on liquor and tobacco annually. We believe that such inequities are inexcusable.

This is one campaign that hawks and doves alike can carry out together. You can help to get the ball rolling for a mere forty-two cents. That's what it costs to send out seven letters to President Nixon. Write and help the NCACC find the cure for cancer. The power to cure this dreaded disease is truly in your hands!

Apathy Dies?

Some congratulations are in order for SICC's technology students. Those BT, ET and MT students long proving to be apathetic have finally shown some spark of life. This past Tuesday they voiced their demands to make SICC a four year college, thus exhibiting a previously hidden concern for anything. It is curious to note however, that the only time they stand up, is when it is for their own personal advancement. One should also note, the number of both technical and liberal arts students who sat around in the cafeteria and lounge doing absolutely nothing. Many

To the Editor:

I would like to point out that it took the efforts of our former S.G. President, Dan Gagliardi, to get the juke box back in the lounge and also have it decorated for the holidays.

A few students from the Menorah Society and Dan Gagliardi also pushed for a Christmas dance.

I think it is about time that our present S.G. started working in the interest of the students.

---Steve Panzera To the Editor:

The past two months we have seen many changes around the college. One big change was the induction of our new Student Government. With Sam Wohl as President and Tony Lepere as Vice President, our Student Government has good men in charge. The very first big act of stu-

To The Student Body:

The basic element of military instruction is physical and mental discipline. Here at Great Lakes Naval Training Center, we are taught discipline through constant physical drill and psychological abuse.

I personally do not care what people think of me provided that they don't attempt to change my thoughts. Here however through the use of obscene, derogative adjectives a person's spirit weakens until at times you begin to respect neither the officer or his uniform.

Some of our barracks are not heated. At 10 to 15 degrees at night, it gets cold. We are forced to iron our clothes with such items as plastic soap dishes or stencil kits. We don't even have the opportunity to be alone for quiet and serious thought.

The government spends $1.32 a day per day recruit for food. Can your family affor at today's prices to feed them at $1.32 a day to buy and cook food. Rather than station regular cooks and galley workers at recruit training, they require re-

To President Birenbaum:

Many students at Staten Island Community College are to varying degrees unhappy about the present system of financial aid.

There are two major problems. At the present time, there is only one person authorized to make decisions concerning financial aid to a day session student body of 3500.

At the beginning of the semesester, when the need to discuss financial situations is the greatest, students often waited days for their initial interview with Mr. Marold Stamps. Because the Financial Aid office is too small to accommodate the tremendous influx of studients, we were told to line up against the wall in the outside corridor. On any partcular day the hall would be mobbed with students, many forced to cut several classes. Leaving the line for food, water or nature's call would mean immediately losing your place and starting the whole process again. Not only was this situation time consuming for the students, but for the understaffed office as as well.

dent government was to do some interior decorating. The Student Government elected to put up new wall paper, (pictures of Chairman Mao, Castro), and other conservative materials.

They have already decided to do away with things that aren't important, such as CISGA, and a Student Leadership program.

I had once asked Mr. Wohl, what social functions he had planned for the future. His answer was blunt and far from actually giving me an answer.

Last year, as in past years, we had social functions sponsored by the Student Government, but this year's outlook is in the fog.

What I don't understand is, if Student Government is for the students, then why are they taking away things for the students. What I mean is, CISGA and cruits during their 5th and 6th weeks to work in the galley from 4 a.m.-11 p.m. That gives us 5 hours to wash clothes, shower, shave, and sleep.

Those of us in the military who enlisted voluntarily have support for the policies of our country. However, certain progress that we develop in such things as folding clothes is time wasting.

I am a non qualified swimmer. As a result, I will not get Christmas leave (which I was promised by my recruiter.) I was promised an increase in rank and pay (pay yes, rank no.) The pay increase turned out to be $8 a month.

The classes are set ata 5th grade level and you get 3 classes a day.

PROPOSALS FOR A BETTER NAVY

I do not support the disolution of the military services. What I do is the humanization of military life. That is the basic rights of Americans everywhere:

1. the right to discussion—to hear fairly and impartially the cases brought before all officers of the military services.

the general inefficiency of the office, but the personal inefficiency of the financial aid officer, Mr. Stamps. It is questionable that his management, of the alloted funds has been handled prudently. Students of varying backgrounds were unable to receive assistance; they were told the funds were depleted. Mr. Stamps was unable to use innovative means to find additional funds or offer concrete alternatives.

It is necessary to mention here Mr. Stamps' apparent lack of understanding of many problems brought to him. He is frequently out of touch with the reality of today's college students. Like many college administrators, Mr. Stamps treats students in an authoritarian and condescending manner. This attitude stifles student - admiinstrator communication. It is not our wish to seek Mr. Stamps' dismissal for we realize that this is his first year as financial aid officer. No doubt he has learned from his mistakes and he himself has plans for future improvements in the program.

Leadership training programs can help individuals answer the problems of the college, and answer problems within themselves.

A college cannot function properly without capable leaders to guide the way, and without training, there will be no capable leaders on this campus for some time.

I believe in their slogan "All power to the people," but I wish they would practice what they preach.

-Bruce Merles

Letter to the Editor, The Dolphin water fountain, a beautiful bronze creation in the courtyard of Building A, is unfortunately practically hidden from sight. It is deplorable that such an expensive example of sculpture should be so shockingly misplaced.

-Martin Kalish

2. the right of reprisal—in my company, one of our commanders hit three recruits in the head with a stock in violation of the uniform code of military justice. The recruits brought charges against him. He was relieved of command and the three recruits were set back in training.

3. Education — increase level and value of training classes now held to such a tight schedule that there is no time for questions and honest criticism. Classes are now held by such means as taped T.V., movies, and copying stencils from overhead projectors. While these do facilitate for time and space, they do not compensate for an actual instructor.

4. Respect of and for officers —these will go hand in hand, if you can't get the respect of your commander, you can't give him yours.

The views expressed in this letter are those of the author and not necessarily those of this paper or the Department of the Navy.

- Rober Lang

tain changes be made. We suggest that:

1. The F.A. office hire additional office workers especially at the beginning of the semester when the student's needs are the greatest.

2. The office be run in a more efficient and systematic manner. Appointments should be made and kept.

3. That another F.A. Officer be appointed to assist Mr. Stamps. Not only would another officer lighten the burden of work but hopefully he would offer new perspectives and inovaof them, in fact, taunted those students who expressed some concern.

We do, in fact, hope the movement to have SICC become a four year college gathers much more student supports from all concerned. And then we can truly raise the voices of SICC in solidarity to the bureaucratic stuffed ears of the Board of Education.

Students Honored

We wish to extend our congratulations to the large group of students who have attained the B or better averages and were placed on the deans list. Over one hundred and fifty students climbed the ladder of success this semester and accumulated averages ranged from 3.06 to 3.37.

• THE DOLPHIN • THURSDAY DECEMBER 18, 1969

There also exists a second problem. This does not concern However, the present situation cannot be allowed to continue. It is imperative that certive approaches to financial problems and student needs.

Financial aid is often an important factor in a student's education. It should be readily available to everyone with legitimate needs. Under the present system, this is not true.

If our suggestions are not adopted by the Spring semester, many qualified students will be deprived of funds once again. These changes must be made and they must be made now. Note: Any student who has had problems with the financial aid office should send their complaints to the Dolphin.

Vietnam: 'The Only Sin Is Pride'

By Ralph Palladino

"To leave South Vietnam with honor." I am sure that througout the world people are talking about an American that won't admit that it is immorally involved in the internal affairs of another nation. Other people are talking about our great army that can't or won't defeat a pathetic enemy. I can really see how we are honored and respected. The My Lai massacre and similar smaller massacres not publicized have built up this honor and respect.

Because of these events and things, the young of our nation are losing their respect for our government and the world is losing its respect for our country.

Robert Kennedy spoke of an incident concerning the capturing of a Vietcong leader and his immediate execution. All the newspapers of the world carried a photograph of the incident. The speech could be related to the My Li a massacre and part of it states "Of course, the enemy is brutal and cruel, and has done the same thing many times. But we are not fighting the Communists to become more like them-we fight to preserve our difference." The photograph of the execution was on the front pages all around the world—leading our best and oldest friends to ask more in sorrow than in anger, "what has happened to America?"

This is my final article in a series I have written concerning our involvement in Vietnam. I wish to tell you of a way we can bring our soldiers home from Vietnam, do it with honor, and at the same time guarantee selfdetermination for the people of Southeast Asia.

1—President Nixon would issue a letter to President Thieu stating that all U.S. Troops will be out of Vietnam-by June 1970.

2—Send a copy of the letter to Hanoi.

3—Call for an immediate ceasefire on the part of both sides as a result of the impending withdramal of our troops. (Hanoi has said it can agree to this.)

• 4—Set up an election committee consisting of representatives of all factions of South Vietnamese life without outside interference, to determine how to run a nationwide election.

If President Thieu doesn't go along with this plan then we should just leave Vietnam. If the Communists don't go along then we should continue to aid Thieu with arms, and economic aid. In any case we should pull all our troops out of South Vietnam by the end of June 1970.

The only way the South Vietnames soldiers will stand up and fight is if they are given an alternative of life or death. Our presence in Vietnam is only giving them false security and not backbone.

It is wrong to assume that South Vietnam will become Communist after we leave. If President Thieu has gained support of the people then they will vote for him. If he doesn't, then the people will choose the Communists. The important thing is that the people be given an honest choice.

The South Vietnamese army is much larger than the North Vietnamese and Vietcong. If Thieu wins the elections and the Communists continue to fight, the South Vietnamese should be able to defeat the Communists especially with our economic and military aid instead of our manpower.

By this plan we will not have allowed the Communists to take over South Vietnam by force and we will have guaranteed South Vietnam a free choice of government which was our goal. Thus, we will leave South Vietnam with honor. This plan as it stands will not necessarily satisfy those of us who believe in the Domino Theory. We can also put these people's mind to rest by sending economic aid in the form of the Peace Corps Volunteers, food, farm 'equipment, teachers and doctors, and some money if the people receive the benefits of the money.

One thing we don't have to give them is moral support in the form of troops. The Southeast Asians are very nationalistic and hate Communism as proven by the anti-Mao riots in Thailand, Burma and Malasia, and the defeat of the Communists in Indonesia.

These events prove, or should have, that Communism is not the great force of feeling sweeping Southeast Asia. It points up the ineptness and inability of the Communists to gain the support of the people and leaders of these countries.

India, without our help, drove the Red Chinese off disputed territories along the two nations' borders. We can see by this that the Asiatic people are not as weak as we may think.

These people have the nationalistic feelings, the strong will and the military means to stop aggression and internal subversion. What they need most is education, tools and food. We can only give them the means, they must work toward the end. We can gain their respect and friendship only if we held them and not do everything for them.

In the long run this will cost the United States less than its military aid and we won't lose American lives or have to pay goverments to fight for themselves. The Asiatics and ourselves will gain so much more from it.

We cannot go around Asia telling the Asiatics what to do and how to live as we are living. These people are Orientals and not Westerners. They think differently than we do and regard us only as foreigners and invaders and not as helpers and friends. We can change their feelings if we follow the program I've outlined.

If you feel as I do about our involvement in Vietnam don't forget to tell our government leaders why and how we can get out of Vietnam honorably. Congressman Murphy is the person to send letters to. Remind him that he is up for re-election next year.

Sophocles once wrote, "All men make mistakes, but a good man yields when he knows his course is wrong, and repairs the evil. The only sin is pride."

The Death Of A Super Starr

By DAVID MOSEDER

In the wake of the Paul Mc-Cartney death hoax, your faithful reporter painstakingly reviewed the entire affair. What I have concluded will shock several of my readers. This hoax was perpetrated not as a large scale practical joke, but rather to cover up the real death of Ringo Starr (nee Richard Starkey). The present drummer for the Beatles is one Roy Dyker, who played with George Harrison on his Wonderwall Music album, after extensive plastic surgery.

You will note that on the cover of Sergeant Pepper's Lonely Hearts Club Band, Ringo is the one who is wearing the Sergeant's stripes. This means that he is Sgt. Pepper, and therefore the album is dedicated to him in memorium. The wax dummies of John, Paul, and George are wearing white shirts but Ringo is wearing a black turtleneck. Black is a universally accepted symbol of death. "Sergeant" Ringo is also seen holding a bugle. And what does a sergeant do with a bugle? He plays "Taps" which signifies the day's end or someone's . death. On the back of the album, Ringo has his hands folded at the line "I've got nothing to say." Dead men don't say anything. The song "A Day In The Life," which is a post mortem after SPLCHB tells us in the first verse how Ringo died, but more on that later. Now, go through the Magical Mystery Tour booklet. Which Beatle is actually going on the tour? It's Ringo. Now listen to the song. "The Magical Mystery Tour is DYING to take you away." Obviously the Magical Mystery Tour is an allusion to Mr. Starr's soul ascending to heaven. In several of the photographs and in all of Bob Gibson's illustrations in the booklet Ringo has his eyes closed, as a corpse does at a wake.

In the song "I Am The Walrus," the line "see how they fly" is repeated twice and the line "I'm crying" is repeated five times. He is constumed as the bird on the album cover and since birds fly, then Ringo is flying. As his friend the Walrus is crying, Ringo must be flying away for good. This all alludes to a spirit ascending. Add to this the phrases "stupid, bloody Tuesday," "you let your face grow long" and "dead dog" and the allusion is complete.

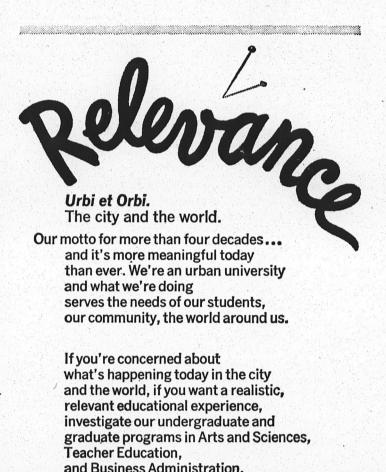

This brings us to the double album, "The Beatles." Somewhere in the middle of the photo montage are pictures of three copies of The Beatles Monthly magazine. One has a full page photo of John, one of Paul and one of George but not Ringo.

On the record itself you'll find a song allegedly written by Richard Starkey called Don't Pass Me By. (This undoubtedly refers to his life passing him by). In that song is the line "you were in a car crash and you lost your hair." This relates back to "A Day In The Life," specifically the lines "he blew his mind out in a car, he didn't notice that the light had changed" and "They'd seen his face before, nobody was really sure if he was from the house of Lords." an automobile accident. The reason that people had seen him before but weren't quite sure who he was is because his hair was burned off in the crash. Also signficant in the double album is that Ringo (or Roy Dyker) sings the finale "Goodnight," which suggests his eternal sleep.

If you're still not convinced, then take a look at the cover of Abbey Road. It is Ringo (or Dyker) who is dressed in black, not Paul. The licence plate no. LMW 28IF on the Volkswagen near the foreground is a deliberate diversion. It is not a telephone number. The number on the police van on the opposite side of the street however, is.

I was in Liverpool last week and I dialed SYO 724F or a Wednesday morning at five o'clock (the line George is pointing to on the back of Sgt. Pepper) and sang the phrase "I am the Walrus." A strange voice on the other end replied "Goo Goo Goo Joob." (He said more after that but I believe it would be in bad taste to print it.)

Finally, on the record itself

These two songs put together verify the fact that Ringo Starr did, in fact, meet his demise in is another song allegedly written by Ringo called "Octopus's Garden" which is an under sea fantasy. It begins with the line "I'd like to be under the sea." Since Ringo was a bar man on a ferry before he became a drummer, it is only natural to assume that he loved the sea. Therefore he more than likely requested to be buried at sea upon the occasion of his death. There you have it! Indisputable evidence that Ringo Starr is dead.

Rest in peace, Richard Starkey. And good luck Roy Dyker in your career as Ringo Starr.

In the last issue of the Dolphin, there were letters addressed to the editor on the article "Honor America" and the column "OURS." In this issue we would like to devote our column to answering some of the questions.

To begin, we would like to say that we were not trying to conseal our identies by hiding behind our initials. Being members of the Dolphin staff, and one of us on the editorial board, it was our decision to sign with initials rather then our names. But since it disturbed Peter, we have decided to sign our names from now on.

As for the phrase, "But Our Country, Right or Wrong," we don't think it's distressing at all. We believe in our country. We believe in patriotism and most important of .all, we believe in supporting our government.

As for the "Silent Majority" in Germany during the Nazi regime, they weren't all as silent as you say. Some of Hilter's most trusted friends and high officials tried to dispose of him and put an end to his atrocities but they were discovered and it cost them their lives.

Ralph, we are glad to hear that you agree with the importance of the military. As for criticism, we two believe in criticizing when it is justified. We do not agree that the military has bungled the VietNam affair. We believe that the military is in Vietnam, helping an oppressed people to retain their freedom. Second, we would like to say that we agree with criticizing the men responsible for running slot machines in foreign nations but you should not criticize an entire organization for the misconduct of a few men. One must realize that there are men in high political offices who also have committed crimes.

Senator Thomas Dodd was censured by his own colleagues for "conduct contary to accept-"for his own personal benefit." Labor Committee because it was found that he "permitted and participated in improper expenitures of government funds for private purposes," in 1967

As for the ABM, we fel that our government is not waisting money on this project. The ABM is vital to our Defense System. In conclusion, we would like to ing this nation to know that millions of college students are loyal, concerned, positive Americans who with dignity and courage commit themselves as individuals to FAITH in our great nation, its people, and its leader?

Our "PROJECT FAITH" movement calls upon students of all political persuasion to rededicate themselves to the principles which have made this the greatest country in the world. We do not believe WAR to be the solution to the problems facing humanity! We recognize that our society has problems which must be solved, reforms which must be effected, improvements which must be made; therefore "PROJECT FAITH" calls upon individuals to commit themselves' to contributing to the continued improvements of our society. As individuals reaffirm and rededicate themselves to this nation and its goals, progress can continue.

We reject NEGATIVISM because NEGATIVISM offers no solutions! NEGATIVISM divides and destroys! NEGATIVISM depletes energy which should be expended in creative constructive endeavors!

Farewell To Kaleidoscope

By Emmett Vaglio

It's the Christmas season and hopefully the spirit of the coming days will last within us. However, as viewed from the past by the the public, the critic is one of the number one targets to point a finger at when the world seems right (when it really isn't) and when certain performers aren't as well received as their showbusiness or non-showbusiness friends had received them.

So it is the same with the world! But critics aren't noted for (in the public's eyes) their hospitality nor for liking apple pie. This in turn gives rise to remarks like, "He's being subjective and not objective!" or He's too bias," when all of our opinions, likes and dislikes are not derived from "open-mindedness" and "brotherhood" alone. Get the message? Or in simpler terms, "How many of you like buttermilk ?" Therefore, the critic has the right to criticize because he has the "site" or in laymen terms, the "position," if you'll excuse the pun!

But as my friend says, "It's Christmas!" and for some people that means giving presents where they aren't due. However, I like to give credit where it's due. Unfortunately, there are many presents'I would like to give. And since I'm giving up my column on Kaleidoscope so I can dedicate my efforts to more important as well as more personal causes, 1 would like give to Kaleidoscope, as my first present Charlie Mammarella who will take over the honors of reviewing such classic events that are easily forgotten.

But 1970 will soon be here and Kaleidoscope has a clean, fresh page to write on and if they use it right, knowing Charlie Mammarella they will have something that they would like to read back when the year is over. However, if they give us the "same old thing" I'm afraid from knowing Charlie Mammarella, Kaleidoscope can properly expect reviews that would make mine look like raves! Believe it or not this is a good present. After all, where would you be if no one had written any books?

In addition to this, I would like to thank my commander and chief Maureen Garrity for giving me the assignment and my boss. Feature Editor Lloyd Smith for backing me up when the goings got rough and to all of you who not only listened but who also agreed with what I had to say. It's been an experience in which I've learned about my surroundings as well as about myself. As I say, I'm giving up this column for more personal causes. Thank-you and Goodbye!

'Mexican Festival' Limon Style

By Joanne Hrelja

In a dance inspired by Mexico's festivals, the history and tradition of Mexico were interpreted by Laura Glen, Daniel Lewis, and Edward De Soto, members of the Jose Limon Dance troupe here at SICC on Monday night, Dec. 8th.

In this first segement of the program, the ingenuity of Jose Limon was seen in his unique choreography techniques. Unity in the dance was achieved by the blending of red lights and the simplicity of the costumes designed by Chenault Spence and Pauline Lawrence respectively.

Their indian dance-like hopping and jumping interspersed with swift, swirling movements contrasted greatly with the sustained positions they assumed. The effect that was attained by the entire dance, brought to light the celebration of their festivals which dealt with conquest, perremorse, rebellion, and fidy. triumph.

The entire mood of the audience now shifted to one of sedate and yet, intense watchfullness for the next sketch. A sense of involvement with those on the stage appeared to penetrate the audience by the unique and original portrayal of The Exile" from Paradise by Louis Falco and Carla Maxwell.

The singular use of a blue hue on the stage with one direct light from stage right was the setting for the entire episode.

> HOLIDAY STUDENTS ASSOCIATION FUND

White leotards and tights were the basic dress but in the portion of the sketch dealing with The Remembrance were quite nakedness, two lengths of cord were used to symbolize coverings.

The loss "of their Paradise, so late their happy seat," was seen in the expressions on their faces. The duality of Adam and Eve personalities after their flight and the Rememberance were quite visible. The bodies of those on stage, by the constant contortions they employed, the consistent covering of their bodies with their hands, and the looks of shame upon their faces, brought forth the guilt feelings with which their minds must have been struggling.

An interpretation of the first sex act was exhibited by Eve's teasing and attempted seductive movements of Adam. However, the tables were turned when Adam's basic animal instincts were brought forth. The simplicity of the act was seen in their suggested movements of kneeling beside each other and rising and falling in unison.

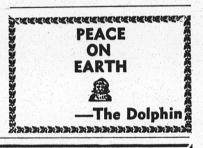

The overall effect of the sketch made it a pleasure to watch. The smoothness and unity of movements throughout it. displayed Mr. Falco and Miss Maxwell diversity and uniqueness in interpretative dance.

In the next sketch entitled "The Moor's Pavane," the movements. like the first sketch, were of great variety. The Moor, portrayed by Clyde Morgan, amazed the audience with his great leaps across the stage and continuous splits in the air.

The final sketch dealt with variations on the Theme of Othello. The Costumes were elegant in appearance even though they were merely yardage of chiffon and cotton.

The dance incorporated smooth and what appeared to be very slow steps. Even thought they were decisive and deliberate movements, a smooth flowing effect was attained.

SICC Tech Students Rally

For the past month and a half, the students, primarily Technology students, of Staten Island Community College were planning a rally for a four year college. The objective of the rally was to promote the idea of a four year program for the Electrical, Civil, and Mechanical Technology students.

Since the two year degree in Technology offered in Staten Island Community College is not valued as high as a four year degree, the students of the Technology programs were concerned with their career standing upon graduation. Within the past two months, meeting during Thur.:day club hours were held, t.) attempt to get a four year program at Staten Island. As far as three to four years ago, plans for a four year program at Staten Island were being considered by the faculty.

Recently, the students tired of discussing objectives with their faculty members, became interested in a rally where State, and City University officials would be present, to listen to their gripes. The rally was held on Thursday, December 11, at 1:30 P.M. Dr. Brodsky, and Dr. Rosen from New York City Community College, were present, talking about the four year program, and answering the students' questions.

At the rally a disgraceful number of approximately 75 people attended. This number included the faculty as well as the students. Out of 70 Civil Technology Students, only ten students showed up. If only 75 students out of a student body of 3,000 are concerned enough to show up at a meeting which is of interest to every student, it's only reasonable to assume that the students are all talk and no action. For the 600 Technical Students, the time spent at their past meetings, discussing the desirability of the four year program, resulted in just more talk at the rally. A 5% turnout at the rally only indicates that students concerned about their future in education will transfer to other schools, and the apathetic others will just fall by the way side.

The Master Plan for the State University of 1968, indicates that from 1968-1973, no Junior College in the State University will expand their program from two to four years.

I find a fallacy in the programming of the State Educators at Albany, for withdrawing expansion of Technical Degrees. Since the need for people with Technical backgrounds is extremely pressing, now, and in the forseeable future, the state educators must create and promote programs which will help graduates and industry succeed economically.

Sweet Victory Achieved By Squad

Bring on Wilt the Stilt.

By Linda Marino

Striving for their fifth straight win of the season on December 16 coach Ira Sweet's basketball squad achieved their goal by defeating New York City CC 91-75 at the Brooklyn campus court.

If the numbers 11, 14, 15, 21, and 30 don't ring a bell, it's obvious that you haven't witnessed this superior club in action. They're the numbers of Sweets' starting five, Super Lam, Pearl Edwards, Flash Harris, Sky King, and Lurch Syvertson, respectively. A game which at first seemed more like a dance, due to NYICCC's singing cheer-leaders and boosters, was confirmed as a basketball game by the superb play on the Dolphins and their opponents part in the early minutes.

New York City was first on the scoreboard, with no more than a 2 point lead in the early going; but with a steal by Lam, with th game 7 minutes underway, the Dolphins took a 5 point edge 20-15, and midway in the first half still remained 5 up.

"Lurch" Syvertson taking a foul shot.

With 5 minutes left in the half, NYCCC tied it at 35 all, only to see SICC's 5'7" Rosey Rice break the tie moments later; and see the Dolphins take a narrow 4 point lead with them into the lockerroom, 49-45.

New York City CC has captured the MCCAC title in the past two years, and by some so called "experts" is expected to recapture it this year; that's why this victory meant so much to Sweet and his team.

With play in the second half beginning, the Dolphins slowly increased their lead to 7 points, then 9, and then 13 with 13 minutes left. Eventually they built it to 16, followed by 19, 20, and 22. With less than 6 minutes to go, Lam missed a foul shot, but picked up two on the rebound, giving SIOC its biggest margin of the evening, 24 points, 84-60.

Sitting out his fifth consecutive game was Bougart Watkins, whose injured leg has yet to heal; while the injured Phil Huggins also watched from the sidelines due to his sprained ankle.

What does Sweet have to say about his boys? The expression on his face as he greeted Lam, when he came out of the game with 50 seconds remaining, said it all. And what do the boys have to say about their coach? That was determined by the chant on the bus ride back to the Sunnyside campus, "Ira Sweet, COACH OF THE YEAR."

'Mad Dogs' On Top

By Linda Marino

In the first match of SICC's first wrestling team, coach Howard Peirano witnessed his Dolphins, who were down 10 points; come from behind to cavort over Bronx CC 26-20 at the losers dwelling December 8. The hard work and perseverence of Peirano's matmen wasn't wasted, as they defeated a school with 5 years experience to their advantage.

Chuck Caputo started the Dolphins on their winning way, by pinning Pasnick with a double chicken wing to take the 134 pound category, following Gene Ragucci's lost to Jones.

After this victory the morale of the team was boosted and the club became extremely enthused; but according to Dolphin basketball star Arthur King, it was Peirano's over enthusiasm that gave the team its "uplift."

In the 142 pound clash, Sal Scicolone defeated Teria in a 2-0 decision. In the 150 pound spot, Don Campbell who was behind at the time, pinned his opponent Schafler. The next match saw John Todisco, with his stable techniques, pin Brown to add to the Dolphins victories.

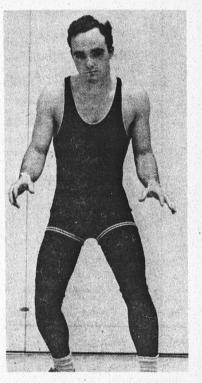

By this time SICC was like a "fire out of control," there was no way of stopping them in their chase of success; and by this time "Peirano was sweating more than the wrestlers," stated King.

Robert O'Mara, in the 167 pound cluster, was the next conquering Dolphin with an 8-6 decision over Silverman. In the 177 pound group, Robert Calta was winning 9-2 over Effinger, but with his opponent on his back, turned over and was pinned. If these two should meet again, Calta would most probably be the victor.

In the clash between SIOC's Chuch Guthrie and Bronx's Colin, it showed the fastest time of the evening with Colin being pinned in 1:40. In the final match, the Dolphins Stan Timari fell to the hands of defeat as the tough Guerci won by fall.

Coach Peirano said the spirit of the team was the main aspect in winning; but it was Peirano who gave the team the mood.

It was a thrill to see the Dolphins be the victors in their debut; but basketball coach Ira Sweet stated "The thrill of watching the SICC wrestling team, came from not only watching the wrestlers, but from watching coach Peirano squirm on the side lines, his enthusiasm was illustrated by the teams fine performance in their first match."

It's evident that Peirano has inspired this club, and hopefully they will remain in this effervescent disposition for their entire season.

Ira's Smile Represents 1st Rate Team

40 11 91 HALF TIME: SICC 49-45

By Linda Marino

Basketball coach Ira Sweet is currently wearing an ear to ear grin, as his Dolphins, both first and second string have proven to be a "first-rate" squad by beginning their season with victories over Queensboro CC, Orange CCC, Bronx CC, and Concordia JC to give them a 4-0 mark.

In their first game of the 1969-1970 season, the Dolphins came from behind to edge an 89-85 victory over Queensboro at the losers Bayside court December 3.

Arthur King, the 6'2" freshman from Samuel Gompers stole the Dolphin spotlight by opening his college career with a 40 point evening.

Second year men Kenny Lam and Earl Edwards put 17 and 16 points on the scoreboard for SICC respectively.

The game was a see-saw clash, with the Dolphins only down by 9 at the half; but with 10 minutes left they dropped 18 points behind. Then due to an abundance of fouls SICC took an 84-83 lead with 2 minutes to go.

Seconds later, a foul shot by wi

Queensboro tied the game, and with seeconds remaining a foul on Lam assured the Dolphins of the victory.

In game number two on December 6, King again was strong, with 24, but this time Lam was high for the Dolphins with 28, in a clash that saw SIOC take an 97-88 conquest over Orange CCC at the Sunnyside court.

The Dolphins who had a comfortable 45-29 lead at halftime, saw their lead slowly fade away in the third period, as the Colts Marty Kemp and John Robinson threatened them with fine shooting, scoring 25 and 24 points. With eight minutes to go, the Dolphins only lead by 10; but with a pair of foul shots by Edwards, and David Harris' fine defensive steal, the Dolphins tucked away their second triumph.

The third game of the season on December 8, saw the Dolphins break the school scoring record as they romped over Bronx CC 125-78 at the losers court, the previous record was 120 points against Ulster CC in 1963.

Lam again was high scorer with 33 and King next in line with 22; both played only 23 minutes. King converted 11 of 12 attempts giving him only six missed field goals in his first three games.

The Dolphins who were losing in the early moments of the game, used a zone press to turn the lead in their favor. When SICC had the game in check, coach Sweet went to his bench; who put on a skilled performance.

The 6'7" Harvey Nobles went in for Lam and chalked up 14 points, while Phil Huggins collected eight; and the microscopic Rosey Rice looped one in with a minute and 30 seconds left for the record breaking point, giving the Dolphins a 121-70 command.

Sweet had one word to describe his team after winning their third straight, "unbelievable."

On December 13, the Dolphins brought the play back to their court to give them victory number 4, with a tension building conquest over Concordia JC, 93-92.

With six seconds showing on the scoreboard, the droll humored King dropped one in from behind the line to give the Dolphins the one point edge; and to give him a total of 22 for the night. Lam once again was high with 29.

This contest saw the Dolphins take an early lead, which was needed, as the fighting Olippers came back to take a 48-38 lead with them at halftime.

With the second half underway, the Dolphins defense was paralized by the distant shots Concordia was accumulating.

Al Syvertson, was one reason the Dolphins stayed in the game, totaling 18; Syvertson dropped them in when urgently needed. With 3:30 to go, the steal by Edwards left the Dolphins only 6 down, 85-79. Harris shaved the lead to 2 by picking off two passes and then King and Syvertson came through once more to tie the game at 87-87.

With 42 seconds, Lam gave the Dolphins a 92-90 edge, but Concordia's Bob Clay, who totaled 26, tied the game for the Clippers; seconds later the King foul shot was converted and the smiling Dolphins left the court.

"Incrediable," mumbled some spectators, of which there were many; but why incrediable? Under the supervision of coach Sweet, a man who steps to the corner when bows are being taken, who could expect anything else.
